Search Is On For Flying Boat With 36

LISBON (AP)—A U. S. Navy search plane today reported picking up a distress signal off Cape St. Vincent where a Portuguese flying boat is missing with 36 persons on board, including 6 Americans.

Lt. George Beaver, pilot of a rescue plane, reported hearing the signal but said it was so faint and garbled that he could not make it out.

Sights On Water

Beaver said the message was picked up on the international distress frequency about 180 miles west of Cape St. Vincent on the southern tip of Portugal.

Beaver said he sighted oil in the area but long low sweeps over the tossing waves disclosed nothing more—no sign of wreckage or life rafts.

This was the spot where the pilot of a twin-engine Portuguese flying boat bound for the resort island of Madeira radioed he was making an emergency landing in sea at 1:20 p. m. Sunday, an hour after leaving Lisbon.

Announced Landing

The Portuguese director of civil aviation, Vitor Veres, said in a statement early today that "although the most contradictory information is being spread . . . all that is known is that . . . (the plane) announced it was going to make an emergency landing."

The plane is believed to have gone down about 180 miles west of Cape St. Vincent, at the southern end of Portugal. It was on a flight from Cabo Ruivo Air Terminal at Lisbon to Funchal, a fashionable international resort in the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Report Asks End Of Race, Housing Discrimination

NEW YORK (AP)—The Commission on Race and Housing has called for an end to discrimination in housing which it says affects about 27 million Americans.

In an 80-page report made public Sunday the commission urged federal, state and local governments, the housing industry and civic groups to act to "purge our national life of the evil of housing discrimination."

The commission, a private group created in 1955, suggested that a presidential committee be appointed to work for elimination of discrimination in federal housing and urban renewal programs. With funds provided by the Fund for the Republic, the commission made a three-year study of housing in America. The report contained findings and recommendations based on the study.

The commission said about 27 million Americans—nearly one sixth of the population—were not free to live where they chose because of race, color or ethnic attachment.

"Housing is the one commodity on the American market that Negroes and persons belonging to certain other ethnic minorities cannot purchase freely," the report said.

The commission's recommendations included:

Repeal of all existing state laws enforcing segregation.

State and municipal legislation prohibiting discrimination in housing built or financed with any form of public aid.

Strong powers for state agencies set up to enforce anti-discrimination laws.

Town Justices Would Go With Court Changes

NEW YORK (AP)—A plan for reorganization of the state court system advanced by the Judicial Conference would sweep away town justices of the peace.

The conference, a panel of nine high-ranking judges, made public its plan Sunday.

It recommended abolition of the Court of Claims as a separate tribunal and proposed a "strong centralized administration" for the statewide system.

Governor's Request

The conference formulated a reorganization plan in response to a request last spring by Gov. Harriman. Harriman's request came after the Legislature rejected a plan of the Temporary Commission on the Courts, headed by Harrison Tweed, for the second consecutive year.

A recommendation that justices of the peace be eliminated was included in the 1957 Tweed plan and was blamed for the plan's legislative defeat. The J.P.'s were retained under this year's Tweed plan.

Conference Plan

The conference plan proposed a statewide judicial system including the present Court of Appeals, Appellate Divisions, Supreme and Surrogates' courts and a new family court.

In New York City, General Sessions and county courts would be abolished and the city would have only two local courts. One would be a civil court, with upper monetary limits of $10,000, replacing the city and municipal courts. The other would be a criminal court to replace Special Sessions and the magistrates' courts.

Plan for Upstate

For the communities outside New York City, the conference recommended a county court, manned by fulltime judges, with civil jurisdiction and monetary limits of not less than $10,000 and with full criminal jurisdiction.

Also proposed for Upstate facilities was a uniform city court structure, mandatory for the larger cities and optional for the smaller ones.

For the rural areas, the conference recommended a statewide system of countywide district courts to replace the many present local judicial offices.

The conference said its plan would eliminate from the court system "all of the various city courts, police courts, justices of the peace courts, police justices and other local tribunals outside New York City."

Would Continue Post

The conference suggested that the chief judge of the Court of Appeals continue to act as conference chairman and "as such be the administrative head of all the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 7)

E. I. McCaffery, Engineer for City Dies on Sunday

Edward I. McCaffery, 60, of 379 Albany Avenue, a specialist in sanitation and water supply projects, died here on Sunday.

He came to Kingston in 1933 and was a consulting engineer for the city and several surrounding towns.

Prior to becoming a local resident, Mr. McCaffery was with Sanborn & Bogert, New York engineering firm, which serves the Kingston City Water Department. He had, while here, assisted with water department projects.

Advised on Projects

A consulting engineer here for many years, he had assisted with many public works projects, among the more recent being the new sewer system for several streets in the Poncehockie sector. He had also assisted with projects in the towns of New Paltz, Ulster, Esopus and elsewhere out of the city.

Mr. McCaffery was a graduate of Lincoln High School, Jersey City, and Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J. He played quarterback on the Stevens football team, and was captain in 1922. He was a member (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Rocky Takes Vacation in Venezuela

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
VALENCIA, Venezuela (AP)—Governor-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller was in South America today on a post-election vacation.

Lands at Farm

For the next week or more, he told reporters, he plans to relax and "watch the mountains."

The mountains surround his 860-acre, cattle farm near here.

Rockefeller and his wife left New York City Saturday night aboard an airliner, shifted to a single-engine plane at Caracas and flew 100 miles to their farm, which has a landing strip.

The farm house is a U-shaped building of white stucco with a red tile roof.

Rockefeller flew into a battery of Venezuelan reporters at Caracas. They fired at him the same question that has been a favorite of American newsmen: Does he plan to seek the Republican nomination for president in 1960?

Rockefeller gave the same answer that he has for the past several weeks: His intention is to serve a four-year term as governor.

Prominent Mention

He has been mentioned prominently as a presidential possibility since his landslide election last week over Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman.

Rockefeller landed on the first leg of his trip at the same airport at which Vice President Nixon was stoned in anti-American demonstrations earlier this year.

To insist questions from Venezuelan reporters about the vice president, Rockefeller replied in Spanish: "I have nothing to do with Nixon."

He told the newsmen his only ambition was to do a good job as governor of New York.

The governor-elect launched his vacation trip in much the same manner as he campaigned—handshakes all around.

Rockefeller went around the Idlewild Airport terminal shaking hands and chatting with passengers.

Hand-shaking Resumes

The governor-elect resumed the hand-shaking when he arrived in Caracas early yesterday morning and found a pre-dawn crowd of several hundred persons waiting for him. U. S. Ambassador Edward Sparks greeted Rockefeller at the airport.

The vacation comes after several hectic months in which Rockefeller won the GOP nomination for governor and went on to defeat Harriman by more than 550,000 votes.

Rockefeller will return to a round of conferences on the formation of his administration. One of the first major announcements is expected within a few days—the appointment of a budget director.

The new director and aides will attend budget sessions in Albany with officials of the present Democratic administration.

Rockefeller, who takes office Jan. 1, said he would meet weekly with Republican legislative leaders beginning Dec. 1.

Little Rock Board Is Directed to Integrate

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals directed today that the Little Rock, Ark., School Board take affirmative steps to accomplish integration as previously ordered by the courts.

The three-judge court vacated an order by U. S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller, who dismissed an application for an injunction against the board.

The case was remanded to Judge Miller's court.

Judge Miller was directed to enjoin the School Board "from taking any further steps or action without the approval of the District Court to transfer possession, control or operation, whether directly or indirectly, of any of the senior high schools or any other property" for operation of segregated schools.

The appellate court directed that the board be enjoined "also from engaging in any other acts whether independently or in participation with any one else, which are capable of serving to impede, thwart, or frustrate the execution of the integration plan mandated against them."

Decision Takes 27 Days

The 23-page decision was handed down 27 days after final arguments were heard on whether Little Rock's four public high schools could be leased for use as private, segregated institutions.

Private school facilities were set up in Little Rock for white pupils only after Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed the public schools.

The decision set out that the school board members have "an obligation under the previous general order against them to move forward within their official powers" with integration on their own initiative.

The court said a private school corporation, now operating in Little Rock, can intervene in the District Court within 10 days if it feels it has a legal right to use the public school buildings and equipment.

Jury Votes Contempt Citation

Tompkins Request Basis for Order

Morgan D. Ryan of Kingston, one-time official of the defunct Ulster Bituminous Corp., has been ordered to appear in Supreme Court November 17 to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt for refusal to answer questions put to him by the special Ulster County Grand Jury investigating kickbacks.

In an order signed by Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg today Ryan, now a research assistant with the Ulster County Welfare Department, is directed to appear before him at 10:30 a. m. Monday, Nov. 17 in the local courthouse.

Served This Morning

The order, which was served on Ryan this morning, was issued at the request of Special Prosecutor Bernard Tompkins who conducting the probe here into alleged payments of kickback money to public officials and employees.

The grand jury voted a contempt citation last Thursday when Ryan refused to answer questions in connection with the probe.

An affidavit by Tompkins petitioned Judge Greenberg to issue the show cause order.

Cashed in Troy

It charged that certain large sums of money amounting to thousands of dollars, listed as "commissions," were paid to Ryan by Frank Buckley of Troy, a dealer in snow removal equipment. One of these checks was for $5,000. They were cashed by Ryan at Union National Bank, Troy.

The affidavit stated that Ryan had appeared before the grand jury on October 23 and 27 and November 6, waiving immunity.

Tompkins charged that Ryan was shown a number of bank deposit slips from his account in the Kingston Trust Company reflecting large deposits of checks and cash during the period April 1953 to and including May 28, 1957, and that he refused to account for any of them and "completely frustrated all efforts by the grand jury to learn the source of the amounts of checks and cash deposited by him during that period."

Charges Thwart Plan

The affidavit further stated that Ryan's conduct with respect to his testimony concerning the bank deposits is "contumacious and contemptuous," that his "lack of recollection was designed to thwart the purpose of the grand jury and is part of a master plan devised and conceived to frustrate the function of the grand jury of this term of the court in arriving at the truth of the matters into which it is investigating."

The affidavit further states it is significant to note that Ryan never declared more than $7,500 gross income a year on his income tax returns which is "persuasive of the fact that his lack of memory is not a sincere one but rather a contumacious refusal to give the information sought after by your deponent imposing the question."

Some Details Demanded

Tompkins charged that if Ryan spent the sums of money he claimed to have spent as "selling expenses" he would be able to furnish at least some detail or circumstance under which it was expended. "It is also manifest that, if he had received the impressive sums of cash and the large checks indicated on his bank deposit slips from legal, untainted sources, he would likewise remember some details concerning same. The plain truth of the matter is that after having offered testimony on the subject, Ryan now seeks to cut off the flow of information and so impede the progress of the grand jury."

In a statement to the grand jury November 6, Ryan said that, (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Will Get Back Pay

Murphy, who had cooperated in the local investigation of the department, was automatically suspended for 30 days without pay, with the mere filing of the charges. He will be compensated for the loss. At the end of the 30 days he was restored to the payroll, but remained off duty until the end of the trial last week.

No Mail Tuesday, Schools, Offices and Banks to Be Closed

There will be no delivery of mail on Tuesday in observance of Veterans Day, Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk announced today.

The lobby in the central post office on Broadway will remain open from 6 a. m. to 3 p. m., in the uptown station from 8:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., and in the Rondout station from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., for the convenience of boxholders.

All county offices will be closed, including the Motor Vehicle Bureau, but the sheriff's department will keep regular duty hours.

Offices in the city hall, except the police department, will remain closed all day, and there will be no sessions in city schools.

All banks in the city also observe Veterans Day by remaining closed, as does the city library.

Rockefeller Election Marks Big Change In Public Attitude Toward Family Name

SKY SPY—An air-to-ground robot "spy," the Republic SD-3 combat surveillance drone is shown above on its portable launching platform. Currently undergoing flight tests with the Army Signal Corps, the pilotless drone switches from television to radar, infra-red or photographic sensing devices by means of interchangeable nose units. Driven by a pusher propeller, it is launched initially by JATO rockets.

NEW YORK (AP)—Election of Nelson A. Rockefeller as governor of New York marks a complete revolution in the public attitude toward the family name.

Half a century ago, when the governor-elect was born, the name was feared and hated as a symbol of the ruthless power of Standard Oil, notorious in those years for cut-throat competition and forcing opposition to the wall.

Aware of Antipathy

Nelson Rockefeller's grandfather, John Davison Rockefeller, was aware of this antipathy and engaged Ivy Lee, a public relations expert, to counter it. Before his death in 1937, John D. had won acceptance as one of the nation's great philanthropists.

This course was pursued by his son, John D. Jr., with such giant organizations as the Rockefeller Foundation and the Rockefeller Institute.

John D. Sr., in 1864 married Laura Spelman. They had four daughters—one of whom died in infancy—and a son, John D. Jr. The son married Abby Aldrich, daughter of Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, Rhode Island Republican, in 1901. Between 1903 and 1915, they had one daughter and five sons. They are daughter Abby, John D. 3rd, Nelson, Laurance, Winthrop and David.

Will Give Up Post

Once when a friend commented to John D. Jr. that the five sons appeared to be "measuring up," the father replied "not a day passes but Mrs. Rockefeller and I pray that they will continue measuring up."

The eldest son, John D. 3rd, now 52, is active in the family philanthropies and business.

Nelson, 50, who has been board chairman of Rockefeller Center, announced he will resign that post when he takes over the governorship.

Laurance, 48, has been Nelson's No. 2 at Rockefeller Center and active in real estate development in the Virgin Islands.

Winthrop, 46, farms 3,000 acres in the Arkansas Ozarks and is chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

David, 43, is a vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank. Sister Abby, 55, now Mrs. Jean Mauze, has been active in the affairs of the Metropolitan Museum, the Museum of Modern Art and various charities. All the brothers are married and have children.

Huntley Generator Goes Into Operation

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A generator big enough to provide electricity for half a million homes went into operation today at the Huntley plant of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp.

The steam-driven generator cost about $30,000,000. It burns about 70 tons of coal a day.

The Huntley station, located in the nearby Town of Tonawanda, is Niagara Mohawk's biggest generating plant and one of the largest steam plants in the country.

The new generator adds 200,000 kilowatts to the plant's previous capacity of 1,000,000 kilowatts. The additional electricity is being fed into the rest of the company's system.

THE GOOD FIGHT

Someone asked: "Why do we celebrate Veterans' Day? Isn't it just another Memorial Day?" The answer might well be given: Perhaps it is "just another Memorial Day," but isn't it a good thing to set aside two days of the year in memory of those who sacrificed much, perhaps their very lives, to preserve liberty?

That would be only a partial answer. Veterans' Day is a kind of second Memorial Day, true. But it is more than that. It has additional significance because it grew out of Armistice Day, which commemorates the ending of World War I 40 years ago. That first global conflict has special meaning within the context of that larger conflict, between the forces of tyranny and the forces of democracy, which is the hallmark of the 20th century.

The first world war was also the first major conflict in which the world's great nations committed to democracy were clearly aligned against authoritarian. The armistice in 1918 seemed then to mark the triumph of democracy over the forces that would restrict human freedom.

We know better, now. Looking back over four tumultuous decades since that armistice was declared, we know that the fight against the idea of the all-powerful state did not end in 1918 and probably will not end during our lifetime. On Veterans' Day in 1958 we honor all who have participated in that great fight.

There's talk of changing the major political parties' names to Liberal and Conservative. It might be all right if anyone could figure out what the words mean.

THE NEXT TWO YEARS

Late on the night of that memorable Tuesday after the first Monday, when it already was clear that the Republican party had suffered a walloping national defeat, GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn made a statement. He said that most of the news had been bad, though there were some bright spots; that in politics you win or lose. Then he put the Democrats on notice: campaigning for 1960 would "begin on Nov. 5th."

This broadly sums up the major conclusions to be drawn from the election. The Democrats won nationally by a tremendous landslide. The Republicans did manage to snatch a few chestnuts from the fire, notably in New York. Now the stage is set for the political drama that will culminate in the 1960 presidential race.

There is less certainty about the presidential nominations of both parties than there was before the election. Vice President Nixon has suffered a damaging setback. His influence in his home state of California has been greatly diminished by the Democratic sweep. Although one potential 1960 rival, Senator Knowland, has been knocked out of the picture, another has risen in the person of New York's new governor, Nelson Rockefeller.

The Democratic picture, insofar as the presidential nomination is concerned, also is different than it was. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, a serious contender in 1956, now takes a back seat as a result of his defeat. Two others often mentioned for the Democratic nomination, Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts and Senator Symington of Missouri, took on added lustre through re-election by substantial margins.

There will be a lot of jockeying for position in both parties. One thing is certain. The Democrats will help to make the next two years among the most interesting, politically, in the nation's history.

The United States has assured its allies it will go to war if necessary. Question among Communist leaders: How far is it from here to "necessary"?

A New Jersey apiarist says he would rather be stung by a bee than by a mos-

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WITHOUT MEANING

In most parts of the United States, the recent election was without ideological position. Except in California and perhaps Arizona and Ohio, most candidates discussed no issues, avoiding them as dangerous and preferring to fill the air with a plethora of verbiage. In New York State, where the campaign had national overtones, the candidates ran a contest between eating goulash with their fingers and eating hot dogs off a street corner push-cart. Maybe the photographers will swear that they actually saw the candidates eat the stuff!

What Governors talked about did not matter so much, it being a sort of wrist-slapping election. What candidates for the Senate or the House of Representatives said could have been very significant, but most of them spoke about the weather and the glories of this and that, avoiding such subjects as inflation, the foreign policy, the peril of the dollar and the danger of war. By avoiding such subjects, the candidates also avoided putting their feet in their mouths. It was as grand a display of nothingness as had ever been seen.

While these fellows were travelling about spouting words, the Quemoy shootings occurred and on that subject most politicians feared to talk because it could lose them a vote or two either way. Walter Lippmann permitted himself this:

"As for the United States having to prove its courage, or to lose all its friends, I would say that what we do about Quemoy is a test of the courage of the United States only if we announce to the world that we regard it as a test of our courage. The world knows that we have fought three big wars in the past fifty years and the world, friendly, hostile and neutral, will have no doubt about the courage of this country."

No politician would say anything of the sort, because it would be like sticking a finger into an enemy's mouth. The world does not remember that we courageously fought three wars. A generation is growing up in Russia and in Red China which never heard that the United States played any important role in World War II. This same generation does not know that we gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 for free, out of the generosity of our hearts. That generation only knows that Negroes cannot go to schools in Little Rock and that Paul Robeson cannot sing at the Metropolitan Opera.

Unfortunately for Mr. Lippmann, the world is not as erudite as he is and does not remember yesterday's news. Politicians in every country want to know, what did you do for me today? Yesterday's generosity was to meet yesterday's problems. Today is a new day.

So the candidates could not go along with Lippmann because there are no votes in that. Republican and Democrat, they avoided the entire subject. They left it to John Foster Dulles and hoped nothing serious would come of it. They who are the people's representatives, according to the Constitution, became the people's tasters of pizza pies and Irish coffee to say nothing of gefuete fish and sauerbraten. You may say that why is this different from kissing babies or attending wakes and bar mitzvas or laying cornerstones?

Truly, it is not different. It is all of a piece of nonsense which is unrelated to the subject of whether a candidate is worthy of election or not. A citizen observing the conduct of some candidates, could easily have thought that it might be best not to vote at all. Is a night club exhibitionist any worse than some candidates who suddenly became "democratic" for a month before Election Day and then develop into stuffed shirts if elected by the people?

The Republican process is a theory of popular choice. The people set up their own government by electing chosen representatives. Those who present themselves to be chosen usually conform to a type desired by the people of a particular generation in a particular area.

If the kind of campaign which was conducted this year is what the people want, then something is lacking in our education and upbringing. We do not demand enough of our candidates. They are actors not debaters. They project personalities not issues. They raise their hands like prizefighters acknowledging the public applause, but they give no evidence of humility or of any doubt as to the perfection of themselves.

Medicine Cannot Whiten Skin of Person Who Is Normally Dark

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Why we are what we are is always something a bit mysterious.

Q—I am of Armenian extraction and have a rather dark skin and complexion. Several doctors say I am in perfect health. Therefore, I feel my dark complexion is due to an hereditary strain and not a physical disorder. I have read that the skin color is determined by the amount and state of melanin pigment in the skin. My question is whether this can be changed by drugs or X-ray treatments to give me a whiter complexion.

A—It is correct that the skin color is determined by the chemistry of the skin, principally the pigment melanin. This in turn is determined by hereditary factors and by environment. A whitish skin becomes browner by the deposit of melanin when exposed to the sun. This is called tanning.

I do not, however, believe that there is any drug which can be given safely to whiten the skin. The attempt to do this by means of X-ray treatments would be highly dangerous.

Q—Twenty-one months ago, at the age of 52, I suffered a blood clot in the brain as a complication of childhood rheumatic heart disease. The accident occurred at night and paralyzed my entire side. To date almost all the affected parts have returned to normal, or nearly so, except my arm and hand. What would cause my arm to be so lagged and what chances do you think I have of recovering its use at my age?—M.

A—It sounds as though the clot exerted only temporary effect on portions of the brain controlling your left side, but may have permanently damaged that portion which controls the left arm and hand. That seems to be the most likely explanation for the failure of the left arm to recover as did the rest of the left side.

Under the circumstances one cannot be too optimistic about the degree of recovery of the arm. But it may get better, and you should certainly keep on trying with such medical advice and assistance as can be obtained.

Q—Please say something about the treatment for a varicose ulcer which is near the ankle. It is painful at times. I am 70 and have tried several kinds of salves. Mrs. E. L.

A—A varicose ulcer at any age is not a condition on which to try home remedies. The best treatment is prevention; that is, treating the varicose veins which lead to an ulcer before they have gone so far as to cause such serious difficulty. In an instance such as this where an ulcer has already developed, you should obtain expert advice and treatment. But I fear you are likely to have periodic trouble in spite of everything which can be done.

NOTE ON QUESTIONS: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Hidden Ball Play

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The 1958 elections may go down in the political history as the year the Republicans tried to commit suicide and almost did.

GOP tactics and strategy failed almost everywhere.

There were a few bright spots — like the election of Nelson Rockefeller as Republican governor of New York — but this is a small consolation prize in the bigger Democratic victories.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon's "give 'em hell" campaign, conducted in the best — or worst — traditions of Harry Truman, failed to stem the tide.

While there were some Democratic fears that the Nixon attack might reduce indicated Democratic gains by a third or a half, these cuts did not materialize.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS' final campaign effort to persuade the voters that election of Democratic majorities in Congress would mean the death of private enterprise and socialization of industry scared few voters.

President Eisenhower's own delayed punch lines to pin the label of "radical party" on the Democrats likewise seemed to have little effect.

Republicans had twice as much money to spend as Democrats. That didn't make any difference, either.

What all these things are now taken to indicate is that when there's a change of direction in the political winds, all the tricks in the politicians' repertoire can't alter the trend.

One other factor now considered important is that the Republicans in 1952 and 1956 oversold the idea that the GOP alone could deliver peace and prosperity. When recession hit, and a couple of war scares in the Middle and Far East hit, that balloon was punctured.

EFFECTS OF THE recession were harder than most Republican politicians recognized or admitted. A lot of people got hurt in that mild decline — badly. They showed their resentment in the only way they could — by voting against the party in the White House.

It will take some days and a careful analysis of returns from all congressional districts to appraise this accurately — particularly in the Midwest farm belt, where the Democratic tide rose highest.

To alibi this development, Republican apologists may try to blame it all on the efforts of organized labor's political action programs.

They unquestionably had the effect of making the Democratic majorities bigger than otherwise. But counted with this was the fact that GOP campaign arguments did almost everything they could to alienate the labor vote — organized and unorganized.

THE FACT THAT Nelson Rockefeller came through in his bid for the New York governorship confirms this analysis. Mr. Rockefeller disassociated himself from the GOP's national campaign.

Far from expressing fears of Democratic radicalism and the controlled economy, Mr. Rockefeller even went so far in his own campaign as to favor rent controls in New York till the housing shortage is relieved.

Some place between 1956 and 1958, President Eisenhower's "New Republicanism" died or disappeared. The conservative wing of the party took over and made its views predominant. Republican prospects for victory in 1958 began to grow dimmer about the same time. Whether the party can regroup, reform and return under a more progressive leadership like Nelson Rockefeller will be the political trend to watch in the next two years.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—It was late and the TV actors had been tucked in with their holsters slung over the bed-posts. Their ten-gallon hats, their cowboy boots and quaint dialects lay untidy where they had fallen and the growls of Hollywood, Dave Chasen, Gene Fowler and an artist named Paul Armand Chicane, were crumbling bread and popping pills into themselves like salted peanuts. The waiters were upending chairs on the tables and the silence of closing time crept out of darkened corners.

"This," said Paul Armand Chicane, "is a great mystery and I tell it as it is told in whispers in the political underground of Hollywood."

"I do not know anything about it," Mr. Chasen said, "I am a restaurant man. I never take sides."

"There is some good in the worst of us," Mr. Fowler said in a pathetic proviso tainted with self-interest. For he is trying to live down in these twilight years a long career of nocturnal window-soaping from Teluride to Fire Island and back to Beverly Hills. "No man is altogether bad. Mr. Truman was a good son and his wife and daughter love him. Now you take me—"

Paul Armand Chicane interrupted with a gesture.

"William C. Fields was a great comedian, even a humorist," said Mons. Chicane, "but he was a political partisan of incredible zeal. He could set a stone afire with the heat of his hatred and in this affair, he reached his climax. In fact, it burned him out. He was but a crisp and brittle shell of ash when his life was done."

"He used to buy ten tickets for her lectures whenever she came within a hundred miles. Price meant nothing. He had to have ten in the first row, center. He would phone friends as far as London to come and help him hate her. I remember his depression when that fellow in Tucson, that columnist, spurned his well-meaning hospitality with the curt report, 'If you need help to hate her, you aren't trying.' But Bill was trying. He gave it his all. But he liked to share the good things of his life, and this hatred was a delight more delicious than love had ever been. I don't think he was any shakes of a lover."

"So, this night he had among his guests this portrait artist, a great man, though given to bouts with crime de mienne frappe. The artist sat there in row A beside Bill and as the lady spoke, whooping in that lyr-

Dread of Miscenagenation Seen Behind Hays' Defeat

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Poor Brooks Hays! One of the finest men in Congress—a spiritual leader as well as a statesman—went down to defeat last week at Little Rock.

But it was not a defeat intended to be administered to him as an individual. For he was well liked and had made a good record in his sixteen years in the House of Representatives. It was a voting demonstration based on the principle of free expression by the people of a Congress district who were determined to use the opportunity of a last-minute "write in" vote to register their deep-seated opinions on the segregation issue.

Responsibility for the political tragedy rests to no small extent upon those outside critics who have provoked bitter resentments among the people of Arkansas. It is not, for instance, a demonstration of the defiance of the law of the land—as one Northern critic called it last week—when the people of a district, by their votes, express themselves against integration or on any issue, no matter how controversial it may be.

It is this sort of extremism that has made the well intentioned course of Brooks Hays as a "moderate" doubly difficult with his own people. The resentment of the voters of Arkansas has been intensified by what they regard as an unwillingness of people in other parts of the country to take into account the fears of the people of the South, especially the women folks, concerning the possible consequences of school integration.

When will the tragic dispute over desegregation be viewed realistically everywhere, and when will the fears that lie deep in the hearts of the Southern people be fully understood, and the underlying facts of the controversy be revealed? Certainly not as long as news about the conflict is suppressed, or public discussion is squelched, or the feelings of the people of the South are disregarded on the all-important subject of social life in the schools and possible intermarriage—the true barrier to integration.

Facing Reality

On this very point, a significant speech was made recently by Allan Nevins, long-time professor of American history at Columbia University, a two-time Pulitzer Prize winner and one of Adlai Stevenson's advisers in the last Presidential campaign.

Prof. Nevins emphatically and in favor of desegregation and in favor of the Southern people to face reality, as he tells them that intermarriage between the races in the coming years is "inevitable." Prof. Nevins made his speech at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., at ceremonies incident to the centennial of the Lincoln-Douglas debates. The authorized transcript, obtained from the Knox College offices, the races. I brought up the subject. He seemed genuinely mystified. 'I know nothing about it,' he said.

"Nobody is altogether bad," Mr. Fowler said, counting his pulse against the second hand of his watch. "She may mean well in her heart."

"The Mona Lisa was found and restored," said Paul Armand Chicane. "But I am afraid this is a mystery for the ages."

Mr. Chasen got up and yawned.

I am absolutely non-controversial," he said. "No comment; and you may quote me on that." (Copyright, 1958, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Social Problem

RICHMOND News Leader reports this one:

A man was eating beans and hot dogs in a restaurant. His fork cut into a hot dog, but the end circled off his plate and into the open handbag of a woman at the next table too engrossed in conversation to notice. What to do? Apparently the social arbiters had never anticipated this. After a bit of hesitation the man left without telling the woman.

When Harvest Comes

NEW YORK (AP)—Statisticians figure that the crop of war babies of the 1940s will cause a building boom in the 60's.

To Coordinate State-Nation in New CD Plan

General C. R. Huebner, New York State Civil Defense director, declared today that President Eisenhower's recent promulgation of the National Plan for Civil Defense clears the way for full Civil Defense preparedness.

General Huebner stated that the National Plan places the federal government for the first time in full, active partnership with the states for the administration, operation and financing of sound, effective, coordinated Civil Defense programs.

"New York State, with its own basic state operational plan already completed and promulgated, is prepared to take the lead in coordinating the National Plan with our own program of operating readiness," General Huebner added.

The National Plan for Civil Defense, made public in Washington recently, amends the Federal Civil Defense Act of 1950 and sets forth a significantly broadened program of federal responsibility for nation-wide support of the state and local Civil Defense effort.

Under the new law, the Federal Government is to provide necessary direction, coordination and guidance and is committed further to assisting the states in administration and financing as well as assuming an operational role. Hitherto, the federal responsibilities in Civil Defense were confined largely to research and guidance in the drafting of plans.

Within the framework of the new law, the National Plan provides a chain of command which stems from the federal government through the states to the local areas. At the same time provision has been made for enough flexibility to afford the state end of the partnership the authority to act promptly in an emergency without waiting for formal federal proclamation or declaration of a state of emergency.

To Provide Funds

The financial assistance to be provided by the federal government, through the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, will be made available on a matching funds basis to the states and their political subdivisions.

This aid will make possible for the first time the creation of full-time, paid, uniformly qualified Civil Defense personnel, operating on a merit-performance basis. The new law requires approved Civil Defense state and local plans and a merit system personnel, as conditions requisite to federal financial aid.

TV Musicals

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard Adler, Broadway songwriter, is gambling that show history is going to repeat.

Adler, co-author of the hit shows "Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees," is currently doing the scores for two television musicals.

The composer says that he has been asked why he is risking his reputation in video, where many previous tune efforts have failed.

"I'm sure that in the early days of movies, there was a clique of Broadway snob-writers who were declaring the prospects of success of original motion picture musicals were very slim," he says.

"They were proven wrong, and I'm gambling that these cynics are wrong once more."

State's Business Activity Shows Upward Progress

ALBANY — Business activity in New York State continued its steady upward progress during September, State Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson reported today.

The preliminary Index of Business Activity in New York State, seasonally adjusted, rose to 130 in September, an advance of one point over August. It was, however, still far short of the all-time high of 135 recorded in 1957. The September index of factory output remained at the August level of 121, seasonally adjusted, eight points below the index of September 1957.

The percentage is figured with the 1947 to 1949 period equal to 100.

Non-agricultural employment in the state, stimulated by seasonal factors, rose to 6,066,000, the highest total of 1958. However, this was 203,500 short of the September 1957 total. The August - to - September increase was the result of a gain of 33,500 manufacturing jobs and 16,900 non-manufacturing jobs.

The 1,783,000 manufacturing jobs in the state lacked 182,000 of achieving the September 1957 level.

Insured unemployment under the regular program rose to 281,900 in the week ending October 24, reversing the downward trend which began in mid-July. Such a seasonal increase is customary due to tapering off of activity in construction, food processing and resorts. This total was 5,100 less than that of four weeks earlier, but was 95,900 above the level of the corresponding week in October 1957.

The number of claimants registered for the 13 weeks of temporary unemployment compensation declined to 69,000 in the week ended October 24. This was attributed in part to the fact that many persons had exhausted their extended benefits and were still jobless. There were also 19,909 exhaustions of benefits under the regular program during the four weeks ending October 24. In the corresponding period last year, 5,941 claimants exhausted their benefits.

Good shopping weather and near-record incomes boosted September department store sales seven per cent ahead of the same month last year in the New York Federal Reserve District. After adjustment for an extra shopping day, the seasonally adjusted index for September showed a three per cent gain, one point short of the September high attained in 1956. Despite a poor showing in the first quarter of this year, district sales through October 25 were two per cent above the corresponding period last year, although sales in the United States as a whole remained unchanged.

The rate of steel production in the Buffalo District moved ahead of the national rate as utilization of capacity there reached the year's high. Buffalo had been trailing the country virtually all through 1958, although in 1957 activity in Buffalo mills was well above that of the nation as a whole. For the week ended October 26, Buffalo steel plants were operating at 78 per cent of capacity as compared with the national average of 75 per cent.

Sloan Institute To Set Standards In All Hospitals

The State Board of Social Welfare announced Sunday that it had contracted with the Sloan Institute of Hospital Administration, Graduate School of business and Public Administration, Cornell University to develop proposed standards the Board could use to improve its regulation and supervision of 410 hospitals in New York State.

They provide care for approximately 2,500,000 annually at a cost of $550,000,000.

The board explained that the increasing complexity of modern hospital administration required more specific standards than those now used by the state to insure the satisfactory care, safety, comfort, humane treatment, and general well-being of patients.

The recommendations of the Institute will include not only minimum mandatory requirements for the 267 non-profit hospitals, 80 proprietary hospitals, and 63 public hospitals, but non-mandatory optimum standards as well. The distribution of hospitals in the state is as follows: New York City area, 232; Albany area, 50; Buffalo area, 40; Rochester area, 33; Syracuse area, 54.

The institute's recommendations will be based primarily upon recent research into problems of hospital administration and analyses of hospital practices in this and other states. The survey will be completed in September 1959.

An advisory committee of hospital administrators and representatives of the medical and nursing professions and the general public will assist the board by reviewing the institute's recommendations. All recommendations adopted as rules by the board will have the force and effect of law.

Secretary at VA Hospital Wounded, Suitor Kills Self

NEW YORK (AP) — A pretty, 26-year-old secretary at a Veterans Administration hospital is in that hospital today in critical condition from a gunshot wound. She was shot by a suitor she had decided to dismiss. The suitor, John Conwell, 28, shot and killed himself early Sunday after wounding the woman, Lillian Freiberg, in a parking lot adjacent to the hospital in Brooklyn.

"John Conwell shot me. I don't know why," Miss Freiberg said after a guard found her lying in the lot.

Surgeons at the hospital, where she is secretary to the registrar, performed a lengthy operation, but did not extricate the bullets in her abdomen.

Conwell's car was the only one in the lot. Detectives found Miss Freiberg's handbag in the car. In it was an unmailed letter addressed to him in which she told him she never wanted to see him again.

Police said the violence probably was touched off when she handed him the letter as they sat in the car. Conwell, of Hornell, was discharged Oct. 5 from the Army as a first lieutenant. He served 3½ years as a pilot of small liaison planes. He was a graduate of St. Bonaventure University at Olean.

His brother, Donald Conwell Jr. of Elmira, said Conwell had driven his mother, a sister and an aunt to Wilmington, Del., and planned to visit Miss Freiberg in New York.

The brother said the two met in California after Conwell was discharged and that they planned to be married around Christmas.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—For appearing before television cameras eight or nine minutes a week a comely, pleasant young woman named Julia Meade makes $150,000 a year. And nearly every girl in America who watches her says, "Why, I could do that!"

Notes Real Tensions

Well, girls, it's not that easy. The money isn't hard to take, even after the Internal Revenue Service gets a large chunk of it. But Miss Meade says there are some real tensions involved in delivering the commercials for two big CBS-TV shows — the Ed Sullivan Show and "Playhouse 90."

Supposing you lapsed into a little wool-gathering and absent-mindedly mentioned the wrong product. Heads would roll — your own too, no matter how pretty it was.

Of course Miss Meade never has done it and she says her sponsors are such kindly people that they might even be forgiving. Nevertheless, how would you like to feel that you could lose $150,000 a year by a slip of the tongue?

Memorizes Lines

Before everybody starts to feel sorry for Miss Meade, however, it should be emphasized that she's a cool, self-reliant girl with solid training as an actress. She memorizes all her commercials, having much more confidence in her memory than those idiot boards from which some people on television read their lines.

Hussein Returns To Amman After Attack by Planes

LONDON (AP) — Jordan radio announced today that King Hussein had returned to Amman after his plane was attacked by MIG jet fighters over Syria.

The broadcast said the plane, carrying the young King to Europe for a vacation, was suddenly attacked by "United Arab Republic MIG planes."

The attacking jets attempted to force the King's plane to land in Damascus, said the broadcast, monitored in London.

The pilot then turned the plane back toward Jordan and it "was treacherously attacked six times" before it crossed the border, the Jordanian announcer said.

According to an announcement in Amman before the King's departure, Hussein himself was piloting the plane—a twin-engine Jordan air force plane.

There was no report on whether the plane had been damaged.

The MIGs, described by the Jordanian announcement, presumably were among those supplied by the Communist bloc to the United Arab Republic.

The attack, Jordan Radio said, occurred just 15 miles from Damascus.

Reports from Amman also said Hussein summoned a cabinet meeting as soon as he landed.

An explosion in a Royal Air Force canteen Saturday night killed two airmen and wounded seven.

Army Moon Rocket Plans Are Pushed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Army pushed ahead with plans for its first moon rocket launching today after the latest Air Force attempt fell far short of success.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, Army missile chief, said so far the Army is on schedule. Some of the equipment needed to blast a satellite around the moon already has been shipped to the Cape.

If all goes well, the Army probably will make the first of its two attempts about Dec. 5 when the planes of earth and moon again are in the best position.

The Air Force has had three tries and came closest on Oct. 11 when Pioneer I traveled an unprecedented 79,000 miles through space.

Force missilemen pored over flight performance data to determine what caused a power failure in the third stage of the Pioneer II rocket early Saturday morning.

Instead of firing a satellite about 220,000 miles to the moon, the rocket fizzled at an altitude of 1,000 miles and disintegrated in the earth's atmosphere.

5 Crewmen Escape Idlewild Crash

NEW YORK (AP)—A Seaboard and Western Airlines Super-Constellation crashed and burned while taking off on a training flight from Idlewild Airport today. An airline official said all five crewmen escaped unhurt.

The plane careened 300 yards off the runway and smashed into a standing Trans-Canada Viscount. The two craft came to rest against one of the terminal's passenger depots and burst into flames, which enveloped both planes and part of the building.

Two stewardesses were reported aboard the Trans-Canada plane and one was slightly burned. Spectators said the standing plane had prevented the out-of-control Super-Constellation from smashing into the terminal and its cluster of reservation desks.

The building, a quarter mile long concrete block structure, was formerly the main terminal at Idlewild.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau has raised by 10 to 15 million persons its estimate of the nation's population in 1975.

New estimates released Sunday put the total for that year at between 215,800,000 and 243,900,000 depending on future trends in births, deaths and immigration. The new figures replaced estimates made only two years ago when the total would run between 206,900,000 and 228,900,000. The present total is about 175 million.

13 Die in State Traffic Mishaps, Two in Dutchess

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Several young people were among 18 victims of accidental death in New York State over the weekend.

The total included 13 highway deaths. Cynthia Maurer, 17, and Sue Ellen Worden, 16, both of Franklin, were killed Saturday in the crash of a school station wagon in which they were traveling to a high-school music festival. The accident occurred in Unadilla, Otsego County.

Deborah Dickinson, 6, and her sister, Martha, 7, perished in a fire Saturday night in their Brooklyn apartment home. Barbara Hizzuto, 16, of Poughkeepsie, was killed Sunday when a car hit a utility pole at Wappingers Falls. Ronald Bathrick Jr., 15, died when a car hit a boulder Saturday night at Pine Plains, where he lived.

Howard M. Brush, 17, was killed Saturday in a two-car collision at Smithtown.

The Unadilla accident also took the life of Mrs. Richard Champlin, 35, a music teacher at Franklin Central High School and mother of five children.

Another parent of five, Peter P. Coenen, 25, was killed Saturday night in Greenlawn when his car hit three trees.

In Levittown, Wallace Roy, 69, of Brooklyn, was killed Sunday when a car driven by his daughter rammed through a wall and struck him as he sat in the kitchen of the daughter's home.

Other fatal accidents:

Delanson — Stanley Resue, 58, fell from a moving truck Friday night.

Rochester — Robert L. Dermody, 39, fell from a ladder at home Saturday.

Search Is On

Madeira Islands off the northwest shoulder of Africa.

List of Americans

The six Americans: Leon Lazarus Kohlmann, New Orleans, president of a box manufacturing company, and his wife Jane; Louis Charles Slater, New Orleans, real estate salesman, and his wife Dorothy; Henry Hurd Rennie, 74, Southampton, Conn., retired secretary of the C. O. Jelliff Corp., of Southampton, and George W. Long, 45, Far Eastern specialist for National Geographic Magazine. Long is married and the father of three children.

The other passengers were listed as seven Germans, five Britons, three Belgians, two French men and seven Portuguese. The pilot and copilot were British and the other four crewmen Portuguese.

Vessels said the area is being searched "with all intensity and minuteness possible during the night and the morning."

The U. S. Embassy said an American search plane reported sighting the downed aircraft and was trying to guide it back by radio. There were no confirming reports from other search planes or vessels.

The British pilot, Capt. Jim Broadbent, was a record-breaking flier before World War II. He set a solo flight record of 5 days, 4 hours, 21 minutes from Australia to England in 1933 which still stands.

Ryan Must

on advice of counsel, he was refusing to answer further questions on the ground that it might tend to incriminate him.

Says Amounts Match

Tompkins state in the affidavit that Ryan used the device of making out vouchers for "selling expenses" and "entertainment" in certain amounts, issuing company checks to himself in the amounts indicated on the vouchers, and cashing the checks. "There is further evidence to indicate quite clearly that the amounts of the checks matched exactly kick-backs to certain town officials," Ryan was questioned on details but his answers were again evasive and arbitrary. The questions in this instance dealt with Ryan's activities with Ulster Bituminous Corp.

Msgr. Toomey Dies, Active in Welfare

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph B. Toomey prominent Catholic welfare worker, died today. He was 54.

Monsignor Toomey had been suffering from a heart ailment. An assistant priest found him dead in his bedroom at the rectory of St. John the Evangelist church, where the monsignor was pastor.

He was director of Catholic Charities in the Syracuse six-county diocese and had held national and state posts of a similar nature.

He was a native of Binghamton. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Notre Dame and studied theology at St. Bernard's Seminary in Rochester. He was ordained in 1930. Pope Pius XII elevated him to domestic prelate in 1950.

Russia Demanding Big Nuclear Changes, Giving Up of Bases

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP)—Russia today demanded sweeping nuclear disarmament and elimination of foreign military bases as its price for accepting an international warning system against surprise attacks.

Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Vassili Kuznetsov opened an East-West conference on prevention of surprise attacks with a thinly veiled denunciation of American foreign policy.

The appearance of Kuznetsov, a political expert, as a delegate at the conference in itself was a surprise to the Western delegates who are scientists and military experts.

The five Western nations represented expected to participate in a technical conference devoted to feeling out the capacity of the two sides for launching a surprise war, and to see if there is the technical means of preventing such surprise. They expected to engage in no political problems.

The five-week meeting, in which the Soviet bloc also is represented by five countries, could prove to be a fateful international card game, with each side gradually revealing a bit of its hand in the secret weapon category, especially missiles and bombers.

In his attack, Kuznetsov said the policy of "positions of strength and the brink of war" was mainly responsible for the fear of surprise attacks.

This fear, he declared, could be eliminated only by complete nuclear disarmament, reduction of conventional arms stockpiles and military forces and abandonment of military bases on foreign territory.

The Western delegates are not empowered to conduct disarmament negotiations or even discuss a possible future treaty for the prevention of surprise attacks. Their view is that such a treaty would be negotiated at a later political conference if the experts agree a warning system is technically feasible.

Speaking for the five Western nations, U.S. chief delegate William C. Foster avoided all reference to political matters. He urged the conference to stick to the purely technical consideration of modern weapons and the means of detecting planned surprise blows.

The United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada represent the North Atlantic Treaty powers, and Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania the Soviet bloc.

Dominican Priest Gets Nobel Prize For Refugee Aid

OSLO (AP)—The Rev. Dominick Georges Pirre, a Dominican father who has devoted years to helping refugees from Eastern countries, won the Nobel Peace Prize for 1958 today.

Father Pirre, 48, heads an organization he calls Europe of the Heart. He is a Belgian, born in Dinant, a French-speaking city on the River Meuse.

The prize, worth $1,227, was awarded by the five-man Nobel Committee of the Norwegian Parliament. As usual, the committee gave no reason for its choice, nor did it say which other names had been proposed.

The announcement winds up the award of prizes for 1958, made from a fund left by Sweden's Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite.

The awards ceremony is to be held in Stockholm Dec. 12.

When the award was announced, Father Pirre was at the Sarthe Dominican Convent of Huy, his city of residence.

His secretary, Miss I. Jolliffe, said: "Father Pirre is doing a retreat. I can't disturb him now but I will have to let him know."

Liz Taylor Will Wed Fisher in Month, Is Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor plans to marry singer Eddie Fisher within a month, the New York Post said today in a dispatch from Hollywood.

"That comes from the best of sources," said the story by Sidney Skolsky.

"Every since Eddie's September breakup with Debbie Reynolds, he and Liz have been practically inseparable," Skolsky wrote. "He's always over at her house, and the crowd that travels with him is of there, too."

He added that Fisher may seek a quick divorce in Mexico.

"Lawyers for both are working to effect a settlement, and Debbie is not playing hard to get along with," Skolsky said. "In fact, it looks as if Debbie has some plans of her own and is anxious as Eddie to get the divorce."

Boy's Slayer Is Sentenced Today To Matteawan

PORT JERVIS, N. Y. (AP)—Donald William Kurtz, who killed a young boy last summer, will be sent to the Matteawan Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

His lawyer, Joseph Spano of Middletown, did not contest in court today the finding of psychiatrists that Kurtz is insane. This makes his committal automatic.

Kurtz, 34, of this city, a World War II veteran who had been treated for mental illness, admitted the sex slaying of 10-year old John Dudko.

Held on Murder, 2nd For Cannery Shooting

WILLIAMSON, N. Y. (AP)—A man accused of shooting a woman migrant worker has been charged with second-degree murder.

Charles Taylor, 34, told State Police that he shot Mrs. Viola Beasley, 46, with a shotgun Friday after quarreling with her at the migrant camp where they lived. She was shot while peeling apples in a cannery.

Taylor waived a preliminary hearing at his arraignment Saturday and was ordered held for a Wayne County grand jury.

"PORTACOPTER"—The only completely foldable (takes five minutes) helicopter ready for production, the one-man Hiller Rotocycle is shown above in a demonstration flight. The Navy has signed an initial order for five of the machines, which will be delivered to the Marine Corps for evaluation. The Rotocycle is powered by a 43-h.p. motor and has a useful load of 256 pounds. Its maximum speed is 70 m.p.h.

Economy Neckwear

By FRANK TRIPP

Man thinks he's an inventive genius; yet for 19 centuries he pulled his shirt over his head. Not until around 1900 did it occur to him that a dress shirt could have buttons down the front and be put on like a coat.

As late as the turn of the century he still was wearing what amounted to be a bag with a collar band at the top; starched dummies without body, sleeves or tails, just white tombstone slabs to cover frontal nakedness; separate cuffs hitched to his coat sleeves—and paper collars. Yes sir, paper collars and celluloid ones too.

Contemporary women's collars were high with whalebone stays well up to their ears, or chokers of velvet which looked like the labels around catsup bottles.

PAPER COLLARS had varied shapes. There was the turn-down and there was the stand-up, which really stood up high till perspiration wilted it into a blotter. "Blotter" was what the sneerers called the paper collar. Only coarse work shirts had soft attached collars in those days.

Wise devotees of the economical neckwear always carried a spare or two on important occasions. They only cost a couple of cents, the common ones, but you could get sporty and pay as much as a nickel for a better kind.

When you got that extravagant you were faced by a thrift problem. Whether to buy linen collars, two for a quarter, which laundries refreshed for two cents each, or wear blotters and discard them.

Even some fastidious men of means secretly wore paper collars. There were types so well conceived that it took the close scrutiny of a female head upon a male shoulder to detect them.

THEN CAME the celluloid collar, as if it wasn't economical enough to wear a two-cent collar for a week and throw it away.

The celluloid improvement caught my fancy when I was a reporter. Poor as I was, I never wore paper collars but I did fall for its celluloid competitor. These we thought a bit expensive, two bits (that's a quarter) apiece, but they were touted to be indestructible and everlasting. With such prospect I invested in two of different shapes and confidently expected to be buried in one of them at a ripe old age.

What prevented that I'll soon relate. Until I learned their shortcomings, celluloid collars made my frugal newspaper life one of extreme joy and abandon, sartorially speaking.

NOT ONLY could you wash a celluloid collar with a soapy cloth, but you could do so without taking it off your neck. In fact you could wash your collar and your neck at the same time, if careful not to leave a watermark, such as pester housewives on bath tubs.

Alas, how great expectations end in disappointment. After a few weeks of this heavenly bliss my celluloid collars began to smell.

To my chagrin, loving heads encouraged to lean upon my willing breast were repelled by the odor — and it was not B.O. The warmth, of which I then had plenty, released an offensive smell that the makers put into the trick neckwear; sort of ammonia-like and mildly suggestive of a horse paddock.

COMPLETE disillusionment, and return to cloth collars, came when a yellowish brown developed around the top edge of my new collars. Though it matched the meerschaum pipe I was coloring, my 50 cents worth of everlasting chokers went into the ash can.

I'd be the last to suggest a return to paper collars. But here is a challenge for the birds who play with plastics—to produce a witless, standup choker collar for fat men who sweat them flat in the first hour they don white tie and tails. (Copyright, 1958, General Features Corp.)

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Harry Rigby Jr. of the Hudson-Champlain celebration committee of the State of New York brought me a very informative coverage from which will quote in part: "I am happy to note that you are in sympathy with the movement to return Kingston Point Park to the people of this area as a public recreational park. As a matter of fact, you probably were responsible for planting the idea in the minds of the multitude of Hudson Valley folks who have suggested to the Kingston Hudson-Champlain Celebration Committee that this be done, through your nostalgic reminders of its past glories through many years."

Rigby further goes on to say: "As a result, the Hudson-Champlain Committee have made this item one of their hopeful objectives. The mayor picked up the idea at a committee meeting early this year and has asked the state to investigate the possibility of creating a state park there. The mayor is to be commended for his efforts. However, public sentiment should still make itself felt, either to reinforce the mayor's efforts or to create sentiment for acquisition by another means if the state does not respond. At any rate, let us realize that this is an important objective and let us continue to keep it alive until it happens."

More about our Kingston Point Park which Harry Rigby Jr., Mayor Edwin Radel, and others of the committee are interested in at this time. "The goal of every county participating in next year's celebration seems to be the creation of a permanent memorial. A permanent memorial, in the old days, seemed to take the form of a statue in a public square. "The public now seems to desire a living and growing memorial which can be used by many in a practical way, so I hope our fond wishes of bringing back Kingston Park will be realized."

Rigby further goes on to say, that "Happily, another form of permanent memento seems to be resulting for the 'Year of History' in the form of an increased flow of new and valuable books and brochures by local Hudson Valley writers on local history and folklore. Pauline Hommel, a Saugerties historian and teacher, has written a delightful little volume called "Teacup-Tales, Folklore of the Hudson". Neva Shultis' booklet which the Woodstock Historical Society has reprinted belongs in every home library. Also the New York Folklore Society is dedicating the first issue of their magazine "Folklore" in 1959 to Hudson Valley folks tales. Our neighbor across the Kingston-Rhinebeck Bridge, Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president emeritus of Vassar College, expects to publish his "Blithe Dutchess" next month. This is a companion volume to "Old Dutchess Forever", published last year, and brings Dutchess county history up-to-date."

John Vrooman, retired supervisor of historic sites for the State Education Department, who supervised restoration of our own Senate House, has a manuscript ready on the German Palatines in the Saugerties area, at East and West Camp. Dr. Vrooman has written "Forts and Firesides", "Clarissa of the Valley" and other books on the early days of this state.

Carl Carner is working on a new book, origin and early days of the Mormon religion which had its start in New York State. His "The Hudson", "Listen for a Lonesome Drum", "Dark Trees to the Wind" and "Genesee Fever" are well known around here. Rigby says that most of these books and more which will be covered in a future column can be seen at our Kingston Public Library. In my opinion a complete coverage of our Hudson River boats as only Donald Ringwald can write it and illustrate it with his own authentic photographs and with his personal experience working on them will be a book I would like to own.

Present Income Too Low

New Water Rates Are Announced for Jan. 1

An upward adjustment of all water rates, effective next Jan. 1, was announced today by the Board of Water Commissioners.

"The new rates," said the board, "have been established as a result of long and exhaustive studies made by the Board of Water Commissioners, and the board's consulting auditors, whose report indicated that present income was totally insufficient to carry out the necessary operating procedures, which are vital for the proper maintenance of the water supply system, and also that present deficits due to extraordinary increases in taxes, materials, and operating costs, had to be overcome in order to maintain a sound financial condition of the water department."

"The flat-rate or fixture rate adjustment will be approximately a one-third increase, and the revised meter rates will be:

Rocky Not Party Threat to Nixon In 1960: Javits

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits says he does not see Gov.-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller as an "intraparty threat to Vice President Nixon" as a possibility for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960.

Sen.-elect Kenneth B. Keating says the "differences between them (Nixon and Rockefeller) have been greatly overdrawn."

Javits and fellow Republican Keating, elected last Tuesday to join him in the Senate, discussed Rockefeller's presidential nomination chances Sunday on a television program.

Javits was asked in the TV interview if his remark meant that he felt Rockefeller should not seek the presidency in 1960.

Javits replied: "I would hope he would serve in the governor's office long enough to demonstrate in action what we feel—people like Ken Keating and myself and so many others—is his real potential and capacity."

Rockefeller, who is vacationing in Venezuela, has said repeatedly that he intends to serve his four-year term as governor.

Javits said that, despite the Republican defeat nationally, he feels Nixon is as strong as he was before the election.

SAC Crew Gets Medals for Ice Floe Rescue of 20

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—Six crew members of Strategic Air Command planes that took a 20-man scientific team off an Arctic ice floe have been awarded medals.

The men, assigned to the 8th Air Force's 408th Air Transport Squadron at Hannon AFB, New Mexico, were decorated when they landed here Saturday night along with 13 of the 20 persons rescued from the disappearing ice floe.

Maj. Basil L. Commons of Hopkins, Mich., and Capt. Joe B. Sullivan of Kansas City, Mo., won the Distinguished Flying Cross. Decorated with the Air Medal were: Capt. Virgil L. Gross, co-pilot, Ottawa, Ill.; Capt. Kenneth E. Garrett, navigator, Shawnee, Kan.; Staff Sgt. Hoyt M. Jones, radio operator, Jamestown, N.Y.; and Airman 2-C Billy B. Kress, loadmaster, Davis, W. Va.

Sullivan piloted a Fairchild C-123J which landed on the 2,200-foot ice runway in Arctic darkness to evacuate the marooned scientists. Commons, an airborne commander, flew the C-54 which escorted the rescuer plane to and from the ice station.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrials, rails and utilities moved ahead briskly early this afternoon as the stock market pointed toward another record high.

The over-all rise was moderate. Gains of key stocks ranged from fractions to about two points. Scattered losses among pivotal issues were generally within a point.

The market was mixed at the start and developed a higher trend gradually.

The advance followed profit taking late last week after a vigorous postelection rise. The business news was good, including reports of a jump in auto sales, the chance of another rise in copper prices and a satisfactory outlook for the steel industry.

Steel, motors, rubbers and copers gained. Oils and drugs were mostly higher. Aircrafts and chemicals were mixed.

American Telephone and U. S. Steel each jumped more than two points. Youngstown Sheet and Republic Steel were up about a point.

Raytheon and Pfizer were other gainers in the two-point zone. General Dynamics fell more than a point.

Ahead more than a point were Goodrich, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Du Pont, Lorillard and Johns-Manville.

Ford and U. S. Rubber picked up about a point apiece.

U. S. government bonds rose slightly.

Local Man Is Unhurt In Route 28 Mishap

Cornelius J. Houser, 24, of Harwich Street, was in a mishap early this morning on Route 28 half a mile north of the Thruway entrance which completely wrecked his car and apparently left him unscathed.

Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone persuaded him to go to Kingston Hospital, however, where X-rays were scheduled to be taken today.

Mayone said Houser was proceeding in an easterly direction toward Kingston when his 1954 passenger car skidded on a turn, crossed the four-lane highway and struck a cement guard post, the impact swinging the vehicle around into the road.

It then struck a second post, went off an embankment on the left side of the highway, turned over and landed in a field. Time of the mishap was 2 a. m.

Cases Are Heard In County Court

Robert William Shader, R. D. 3, town of Saugerties, charged with rape and assault involving a 13 year old girl, entered a plea of guilty to assault, second degree, in county court this morning.

The plea came after a jury had been partially selected. Hubert Richter, assigned counsel, told the court that Shader, 28, over the week end had discussed the matter with his family and desired to change his former plea of innocent to one of guilty to the second count of the indictment, and he moved for dismissal of the rape charge.

County Judge Louis Bruhl reserved decision on the motion to dismiss the rape charge. Sentence will be imposed on Wednesday at 2 p. m. The alleged act was committed last April 8.

Henry Howell, Marlborough, charged with assault, second degree, entered a plea of guilty to third degree assault. Howell was sentenced to a year in jail, execution of sentence being suspended and he was placed on probation. The charge grew out of an assault with a knife on a man who was observed loitering around the stand on the farm where Howell worked. Harry Gold, appearing for Howell, stated that Howell had been left in charge of the premises by his employer and was defending the premises when the assault took place. District Attorney St. John stated that "John Barleycorn" was involved in the case both on the part of complainant and the defendant. One of the conditions of probation imposed on Howell was that he refrain from intoxicants.

Ball was canceled in the case of James Cassell, charged with sodomy, and a bench warrant was ordered issued. District Attorney St. John stated that the defendant had not responded to a summons to appear in court. Carson Wayne Lyons, whose burglary, third degree, and an unlawful entry charge was disposed of under the Youthful Offender statute was taken today to Elmira Reception Center by Deputies Charles McCullough and Jack Seaholm.

Virginia Ann Reynolds, charged with possession of burglary tools on April 20, 1958, will have her case disposed of under the Youthful Offender statute. Aaron Klein appeared for defendant. She, with Duane Hastings Bellows and Richard Korda, was charged with having in her possession a pinch bar and three screwdrivers which might be used for burglary purposes.

Court recessed until 2 p. m. today. At that time a civil calendar call was scheduled.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

Presently in the stock market, speculation rules the roost. Daily, thousands of investors are getting more inflation-conscious. As a result, risk-taking is permeating the national economy.

This helps to explain why risk-laden common stocks—many of them paying nothing—have advanced sensationally in price. Nineteen fifty-eight is a year somewhat similar to 1927-1928. Thirty years ago, buying prices rather than values was the order of the day.

Less than six months ago, in this column, I talked about New York Central common stock as a speculation. I qualified every statement I made. It was $14 a share at the time, and few people wanted it.

Today, still paying no dividend, but with strong speculative impetus behind it, it is $27 a share. When risk-taking takes on some romance (as has happened with Central), prices rise. In the meantime, what have the New York Central's bonds done? Practically nothing. The fair grade refunding 5's that have always paid their interest on time can be bought for about 68 cents on the dollar to yield more than 7 per cent.

The speculation in Central common is in the nature of a picnic. The investors in the bonds are away on vacation.

Northern Pacific—that railroad with large oil and timber resources—presents a somewhat similar picture. The common stock, a most promising speculative equity, has gone from $32 a share to $57 in a hurry. That is an appreciation of almost 80 per cent.

What have the good grade Northern Pacific bonds done? Practically nothing. At $57 a share and paying a dividend of $2 a year, the common stock yield is about 3.5 per cent. Yet the 3 per cent bonds, whose interest requirements are covered many times over, can be bought for about 64 cents on the dollar to yield 4.7 per cent.

Likewise, the affairs of the big Pennsylvania Railroad, as they concern speculators and investors, are incongruous. In 1958, the stockholders are buying stock at $16 a share that will pay them 25 cents in dividends. That is a yield of about 1.6 per cent. But the speculators in the stock show little interest in the good grade general mortgage 4½ per cent bonds that can be bought for about 74 cents on the dollar to yield 5.8 per cent.

It is a good time to record the inconsistencies of the securities markets. Speculation does presently rule the roost. It is a dangerous time for inexperienced investors to get tangled up with it. A score of low grade stocks that I could name have appreciated all out of reason because of the underlying speculative surge in equity prices.

In the midst of all this feverish activity, conservative investors—mindful of the lack of interest in good grade government, industrial, and railroad bonds—might well take advantage of present conditions and buy a well-diversified list of bonds paying good returns.

The Forum

(Q. from scores of people)

"What kind of bonds should I buy now?"

A. Ask the bond department of any New York Stock Exchange firm to give you a list of government, municipal, industrial, and railroad bonds. Then pick your own.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

Sullivan Prison Officer Dies in Saturday Mishap

Walter Albert McIlveen, 39, of Budd Road, Woodbourne, in Sullivan County, was pronounced dead at the scene Saturday morning after his car left the road and struck a tree near Woodbourne.

Trooper William Shurter of the Ellenville state police reported that McIlveen, alone in the car, was proceeding in an easterly direction along Budd Road, a county highway, about three-quarters of a mile east of Woodbourne, when his 1958 Volkswagen sedan left the road on the north side "for reasons unknown," climbed a small embankment and smashed into a tree.

Coroner Samuel Holtzman of Sullivan County issued a verdict of accidental death due to a severely crushed chest and internal hemorrhage.

Shurter said there were no skid marks in the road and that the vehicle appeared to be in good mechanical condition. The steering wheel caught McIlveen in the chest.

He was pronounced dead at the scene about 7:30 a. m. by Dr. Leon Small of Woodbourne.

The point at which the car left the highway was straight, with a slight upgrade, Shurter said.

The body was removed to the Laidlaw Funeral Home, Woodbourne. McIlveen was a correctional officer at the Woodbourne Prison. A wife and daughter survive.

Explosion Shells Rail Yard With Grenades

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Exploding ammunition cars rained live artillery shells and hand grenades over a wide area at the Southern Railway's Norris yards Sunday and made the area hazardous.

The threat of additional explosions kept railroad officials at a distance.

Witnesses said five cars loaded with 105 millimeter shells and another with hand grenades were involved. Flames threatened two cars loaded with fuel.

Charles Clem, 25, a volunteer fireman, suffered a fractured skull on a flying fragment. He was listed in fair condition at University Hospital.

The explosions began when the string of ammunition cars sidetracked other cars while a train was being assembled.

The noise was heard as far as Leeds 14 miles away.

Greene Escapee Is Still Sought

A 31-year-old escapee artist who vanished from the Greene County jail last Wednesday night was still at large today.

Ex-convict Edward Lee Smith of Wichita, Kan., escaped by shoving aside a night jailer and a trustee and dashing through the doorway. He was being held for grand jury action for a $90 burglary early last year at the Community Theatre, Catskill.

Still missing also is a 1952 sedan stolen in Catskill about 24 hours after Smith's break. It is theorized that Smith may have stolen the vehicle, license number GR-5933.

He is described by state police as dangerous, with a prison record which includes time served for armed robbery and assault first degree.

Says Russia Gives Schools Top Priority

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — President Deane W. Malott of Cornell University says Soviet Russia supports education with devotion, strength and cash.

He said in a report Saturday to Cornell alumni that financial and other backing given to education in Russia indicate "the top priority which education holds in the plans behind the Iron Curtain. . . . Malott was one of seven American university presidents who recently surveyed higher education in the Soviet Union.

He said that, if America used education for its purposes with the same devotion and strength, "we shall remain forever ahead of the dubious and capricious aims of the dictators."

The first plastic material was made in 1868 as a substitute for ivory in making billiard balls.

Work, Study Plan Used by Russia To Control Youth

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

A new and tougher form of control over school children is being developed in the U.S.S.R. through organization of labor brigades in the eighth and ninth grades.

The campaign to organize these brigades of boys and girls 15 to 17 is pushed by Nikita Khrushchev himself.

The new type of organization is envisioned as an integral part of the "study while you work" plan advocated by Khrushchev.

Most Soviet school pupils will go to work at fulltime jobs beginning after the seventh grade and continue their studies only at night schools and through correspondence courses.

As the system has been working in Stavropol region the brigades average about 80 young people. As of mid-October there were about 25,000 brigade members in the district.

Most are being used on farm work and have definite plots of land for which they are responsible. Hours are set aside for work in the fields so as not to interfere with school work. The brigades also work all vacations and holidays.

Khrushchev says the brigade system is good for the young people because it teaches them to work and "they are getting used to discipline."

Northern Ireland relies largely on its three main industries—agriculture, linen manufacture and shipbuilding.

Youth, 18, Dies From Bullet Fired in Chase

NEW YORK (AP)—When police spotted a car speeding and weaving in and out of traffic Sunday on the Belt Parkway in Brooklyn, they gave pursuit.

The chase lasted 40 blocks. One shot was fired, police said, as the driver tried four times to run the patrol car off the road.

Traffic congestion finally halted the fleeing auto. Its two occupants jumped out.

One, a 15-year-old boy, was caught quickly.

The other, Angelo Aviles, 18, of Brooklyn, fled across the parkway and jumped a guard rail. He ignored a policeman's command to halt. The pursuing policeman fired once before catching up with the youth.

Aviles was taken to a Brooklyn police station. He complained that his foot hurt.

Minutes later he collapsed and died. A bullet had entered his lower back and emerged from the abdomen.

Except to complain about his foot, he said nothing and did not appear wounded, officers said.

The car had been stolen from James Simpson of Valley Stream, N. Y.

Coach House Players Opens Annual Drive For New Members

Coach House Players has started its eighth membership drive and plans are in full swing for a gala season.

Proceeds are to benefit the scholarship fund and provide for a financial operating budget for the coming seasons performances. W. Scott Foster, president, has announced that the drive this year will be far more intensive and widespread in order to acquaint the community with the aims and projects of the group.

Among the projects is a plan for completing the renovation and remodeling of the Coach House into a theatre and arts center. Many local notables have already given their stamp of approval to the project; and all agree that it is an undertaking which will benefit the entire area.

Memberships include seats in the reserved section at three full length performances, plus numerous other benefits such as open house, children's theatre performance, and several other workshop performances and readings at various times throughout the year.

Associate memberships may be obtained from any active member or by contacting Mrs. M. H. Felsen, or by direct mail to the Coach House Players at 12 Augusta Street, Kingston.

Money for Charity

In the November issue of "Good Housekeeping" there is an article which may be of interest to club members. It concerns the worry of raising money for projects and suggests a garden tour.

Inasmuch as we are fortunate enough to have several good garden clubs (and I am sure their membership will be willing to assist anyone with plans) the idea of promoting a garden tour would not only raise money but be very enjoyable as well.

The article suggests the following:

"One way to earn money for your club or charity is to organize a tour of homes and/or gardens in your community. It's a project for a fairly large group—say, 50 or more—because to raise any considerable amount, you'll have to sell hundreds of tickets."

The article further suggests that a typical tour has eight to ten stops. It's nice if you have access to spectacular gardens or fine homes; but even a small garden is worth visiting if it has a particular point of interest, such as an especially fine rose bed, prize dahlias, a unique rock garden. Homes can be selected for one special feature, such as an arresting color scheme, a remodeled kitchen, or an unusual patio.

Now would be the time to plan such an event. Choose your chairman and committee heads for publicity, art, tickets and hostess arrangements.

Map out your tour and make contact with all persons concerned for approval of your program.

The society page of The Freeman is available for publicity regarding such a venture, so feel free to contact me for publicity.

An art committee might be considered. It would be their job to prepare advertising leaflets, posters, flags to designate stops, traffic signs to point the way and artwork for the tickets. Tickets should be printed a month to six weeks in advance of the tour.

The duties of a hostess committee are many. Homes and gardens must be prepared for display, tarpsulins provided to protect rugs and tapes set up to cord off rooms not on display. On the day of the tour, a hostess is assigned to each room or garden "station" to point out special features, answer questions and see that no damage is done.

The cost of the tour will depend largely upon how elaborate the occasion will be and how much free help you can get.

Biggest headache is failure to sell enough tickets. Bad weather or another big event scheduled for the day of the tour can cut down receipts. So can ineffective advertising or failure to have the tickets ready far enough in advance.

Tip: be prepared to deal tactfully, but firmly, with any misbehavior, carelessness or rowdiness (particularly if youngsters are included.)

So the next time your club meets, talk it over. You know, you might have the makings of a good money-raising project in a tour of this type.

BUTLER BUYS ARE BETTER BUYS

(We Guarantee it!)

Why bother with pennies when you can save dollars, and many of them, on better quality nationally-famous brand-name FURNITURE? "Don't be penny wise and pound foolish."

During this Clearance Sale we're not offering you inferior quality promotion-type junk bought in advance as a "come-on" to get you in the store. Nor are we limiting the sale to a few short hours in order to high-pressure you into a fast purchase to avoid your careful comparison. Nor are we pricing a few selected articles at some ridiculously low figure and placing a "sold" ticket on them before the doors are even open for the sale—this is often done to bring back a gullible type of person in the hopes she will find another fantastic bargain—and to have her talk about the terrific bargain she just missed because somebody bought it just ahead of her! The odd fact is that these "setups" are believed by certain stores to be so convincing that they will leave the same "bait" on the floor with their "sold" ticket on it for two or three weeks at a time. Even the most gullible begins to wonder, as space in any store is valuable, and, sold merchandise would be removed to make room for saleable merchandise.

Over the years we have become well-known for our values in better-built nationally-famous brand name furniture. We still maintain our standards in quality, and we still guarantee our prices, in the quality, to be lower than elsewhere in the county—or your money back!

We have one of the largest Wayside Furniture Stores in the entire Hudson Valley. We have at all times, over 2000 items on display. We have, on show, more of the better well-known lines for your approval than are usually seen in two or three stores put together. We appreciate your interest in our store and in the quality lines we handle. We're here to "do business," seven days a week. Open every night till 9 p. m., and Sundays, noon to 6 p. m. We're open long hours for your convenience in leisurely shopping—not to place you under obligation to buy in opening our doors at special times and with certain "in advance" arrangements. ATTEND DAR MEETING—Principals at the DAR supper-meeting which took place Thursday, November 6 at the Chapter House, were front (l-r) Mrs. Walter T. Tremper, regent of Wiltwyck Chapter; Mrs. Lyle J. Howland, National Chairman of Approved Schools, guest speaker; Mrs. Cloyd G. Elias, first vice regent. Rear (l-r) Mrs. Claude G. Palen, second vice regent; and Mrs. Adam H. Porter, state director. (Freeman photo).

DAR Supper - Meeting Highlights Speech By New York State Vice Regent on Schools

At their supper meeting on Thursday, Nov. 6, members of the afternoon and evening groups of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution had the privilege of listening to a very informative and interesting talk given by Mrs. Lyle J. Howland, national chairman of Approved Schools and New York State vice regent of the DAR who was introduced by the program chairman of Wiltwyck Chapter, Mrs. Claude G. Palen.

Through the medium of colored slides, Mrs. Howland took her listeners on a tour through the southern states, which she made recently, visiting the following approved schools: Blue Ridge School, Virginia; Crossnore, North Carolina; Tamassee, South Carolina; Berry College, Georgia; Kate Duncan Smith School, Alabama; and Lincoln Memorial University, Tennessee.

Two of these schools, Kate Duncan Smith and Tamassee, are owned and supported by the National Society of the DAR, the others receive contributions and other assistance from the DAR.

The Kate Duncan Smith School is a day school, occupying some 420 acres in Alabama. As the need arises for new buildings and equipment, the national society receives contributions from the state organizations.

Many of the buildings are named for the states which have paid for the erection of same. The Agriculture School here has filled a great need in teaching the youth from the farm lands the best known methods of cultivating land and raising animals. There is also a new Mechanical Arts Building. Pictures were shown of the chapel located on a hillside with a beautiful memorial rose window. Mrs. Howland said that this window is illuminated from the inside and that there is never a night but some neighboring mountain family comes to enjoy its beauty and inspiration.

The 24 buildings at Tamassee are located on 750 acres of mountain land. It functions as a day school as well as having some 200 dormitory students. New York State recently re-modeled the attractive colonial building it had erected in 1923. The Home Economics students and their House Mother live in this white house. Wiltwyck Chapter has a special interest in this school, since it provides a scholarship for one child and during the year sends the necessary clothing and other little necessities for this student. Wiltwyck Chapter also sends other contributions to this school and to the Kate Duncan Smith School.

Mrs. Howland showed some interesting pictures of the Lincoln Memorial University in Tennessee, which, she noted, is the only school south of the Mason-Dixon line named for Lincoln. There is a much-visited museum located on this campus, containing an extensive collection of memorabilia relative to Lincoln. It was from this museum that Carl Sandberg obtained important data when he wrote his saga of Lincoln. DAR members and chapters have made many donations to this museum.

Mrs. Howland's deep interest in schools and the important part they play in the lives of the youth of our country was reflected in her apt remarks. Members expressed great satisfaction at knowing more about a project that is of such interest to DAR members, and in which they take an active part.

There was a general discussion after the talk, and Mrs. Howland answered many questions relative to these schools and presented Mrs. Howland with a check to be used for the Kate Duncan Smith School.

During the business session, at which Chapter Regent, Mrs. Walter T. Tremper presided, it was announced that the annual dessert card party will be held at the Chapter House on Wednesday evening, December 3. This is for the benefit of the Tamassee scholarship. It was also noted that the evening group had already made several visits to the County Infirmary, taking a birthday cake to each person whose birth date is in November.

Mrs. Hollis Burhans and Miss Carolyn D. Newkirk, chapter chairman of Approved Schools, received contributions for the Christmas gift to the chapter's student at Tamassee.

The hostesses for the evening were — Mrs. Edwin T. Strong, Mrs. John G. Garon, Mrs. G. Herbert De Kay, Mrs. Burton L. Haver, Mrs. Melvin R. Coutant, Mrs. Herman C. Schwenk, Mrs. Howard R. St. John and Mrs. Walter H. Gill.

Guests also included Mrs. Lindsay Chalmers, state vice chairman, press relations committee of District 3 and Regent of the Ontario Chapter, Catskill. She attended with her daughter, Mrs. John Atwood, registrar of the Ontario Chapter.

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette" etc.

A YOUNG MAN ROOMER

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband passed away a little over a year ago. My children are all married and living away from home. I am entirely alone in this big house and have been thinking of renting one of the rooms. Would it be proper for me to have a young man roomer, about the age of my son? I not only could use the income but having someone in the house would take away some of the loneliness I feel. Everyone has urged me to have a roomer but they probably meant a girl or woman. I would prefer a man as women are more trouble, wanting kitchen privileges, washing, ironing, etc. I have lived here over thirty years and have a good name. I would very much like to know what you think about this.

Answer: As long as the young man, like you, has a good name, works seriously at his job, is sober and there is nothing about his manner or behavior that can be criticized, your neighbors will probably accept your taking him for a roomer as being proper.

Post Cards to Office Associates

Dear Mrs. Post: I am leaving soon on a cruise. I would like to send post cards to some of my office associates while I am away. Most of them are men and some of them married. Because I'm an unmarried woman do you think I should send these to Mr. and Mrs. even though I don't know the wives?

Answer: Sent to your office associates alone and addressed to the office will be best. The messages on them should be very impersonal.

Presents From Boys

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother and I are having a disagreement on the following question and would very much like you to settle it. Is it proper for a girl to accept jewelry from a boy to whom she is not engaged?

Answer: A girl may not accept jewelry of value from a boy to whom she is not engaged. Inexpensive "costume" jewelry would be acceptable.

Is it proper to wear veils in the evening? Is card leaving still the proper thing to do? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-18, "An Etiquette Test," answers these questions. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

COMPOUND INTEREST Here are four rules that will help anyone who wants to know just what money will do:

At 4 per cent compound interest, money will double itself in a little less than eighteen years.

At 5 per cent compound interest, money will double itself in approximately fourteen years.

At 6 per cent compound interest, money will double itself in approximately twelve years.

At 8 per cent compound interest, money will double itself in about nine years.

When these facts are understood, large fortunes are not so wonderful after all, and a person only wonders that more families do not possess them.

Grange Head Asks Changes in Farm Subsidy Program

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—The head of the National Grange called today for changes in federal farm programs that would free taxpayers from government subsidies on agricultural production.

Herschel Newsom, master of the nation's oldest farm organization, said farm income must come from the users of farm products and not from taxpayers.

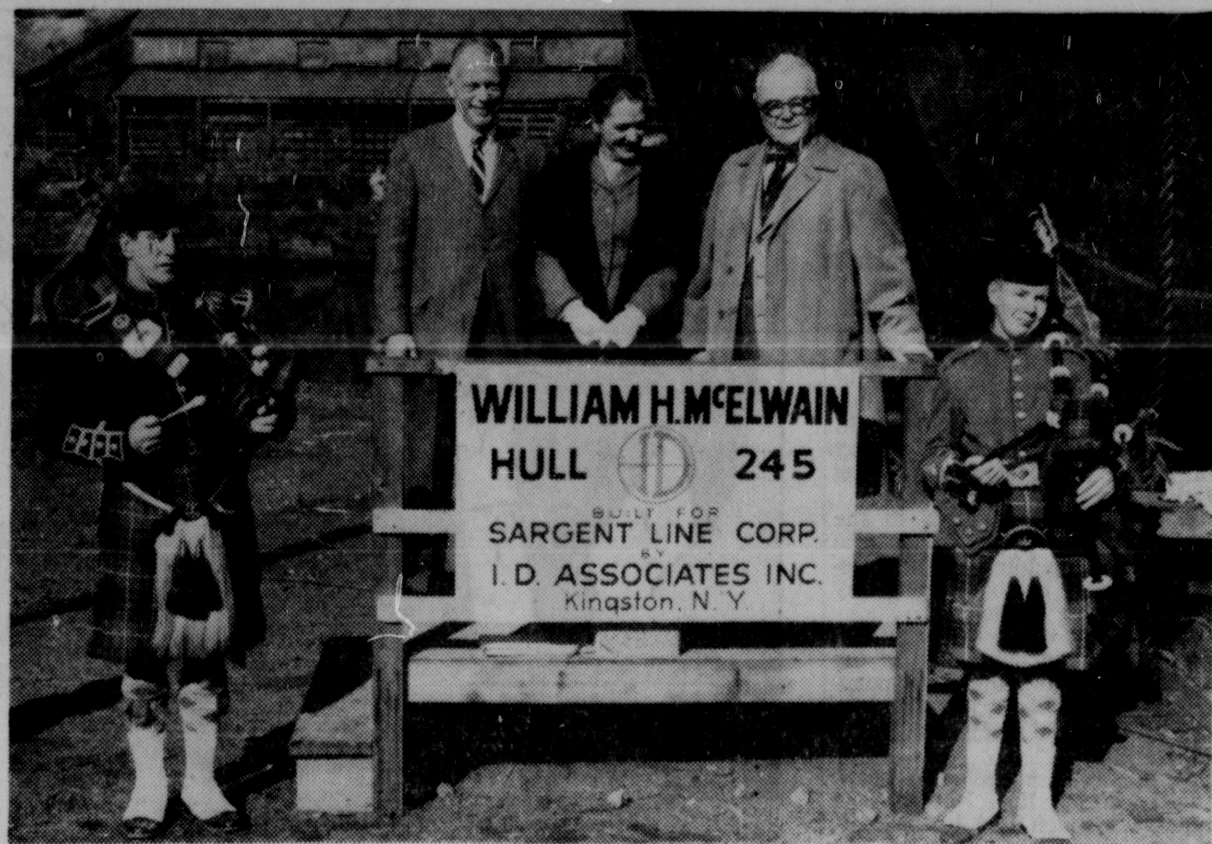

In an address prepared for the Grange's 92nd annual convention, Newsom added: "We believe that Americans have both a moral and economic obligation to pay an American price for products which they use or consume from American farms. We do not believe that those same Americans, as taxpayers, have an obligation to subsidize total agricultural production and then pay additional subsidy on that portion not consumed through private trade channels to dispose of it in foreign markets or otherwise."

The farm leader told Grange delegates present programs have not given farmers a fair income in relation to their contributions to the public welfare.

The convention, which will close Nov. 18, is the first of a major farm group to be held since the Republicans suffered heavy losses in farming as well as other parts of the country at the recent congressional elections.

Newsom said the nation should continue to encourage abundant farm production so as to assure ample reserves. But the extra supplies, he said, should not be permitted to drag down farm prices as, he said, is now the case.

Newsom called also for government withdrawal from buying and selling of farm products.

AT BARGE LAUNCHING—Among the 40 guests who attended the launching of the 120-foot coal barge, "The William H. McElwain" Friday, 11 a. m. at Island Dock were, l-r, Gordon McCaskill, McElwain, executive vice president of Jersey Central Power and Light Company for whom the barge was named; Mrs. McElwain who christened the vessel, D. J. Sargent for whom the barge was built and Duncan MacCaskill. The McElwain is the seventh steel coal barge to be built by ID Associates, Incorporated, for the Sargent Line of 1 Broadway, New York, since 1951 and is the 55th steel hull vessel to be launched at the local shipyard in eight years. The barge will be used to carry coal to one of the power houses of the Jersey Central Power and Light Company, northern New Jersey. Bag pipe music for the launching festivities was supplied by MacCaskill and his son. (Artercraft photo).

Says Tuscaroras Should Use Guns To Protect Land

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—A retired U. S. Army general told an audience of cheering Indians Saturday members of the Tuscarora Reserve should use gunfire to keep the New York State Power Authority off reservation lands.

Brig. Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge of Sherman Oaks, Calif., speaking to the Indian Defense League of North America, said he will ask President Eisenhower to stop the Power Authority from moving on to the Indian land.

Use of the land for New York power development has been snatched by court decisions.

The general read a copy of a letter he said will be sent to Eisenhower. It says that the Six Nation Indians will defend their New York State reserve with gunfire if necessary.

The largest ship ever built on the Great Lakes was recently launched at River Rouge, Mich. She is the 729-foot Edmund Fitzgerald.

Mayor Radel emphasized the importance of the training and advised that all officers give the courses their best attention. He noted that an examination will be held Friday and that the rating received will be a part of each officer's service record.

All members of the department are due to attend. They will be instructed in classes of 20 each week.

Callas Temper Is Pianissimo, Not Fortissimo Today

By R. G. VALERIANI

NEW YORK (AP)—Soprano Maria Callas, holding her fortissimo temperament to pianissimo, is in New York to settle down for two days and collect her thoughts.

The fiery diva arrived by plane Sunday night from a triumphant engagement in Dallas.

As she smilingly answered newsmen's questions here, her mien suggested the charm of a Violetta from "La Traviata" rather than the fury and hauteur of a druid high priestess from "Norma."

A storm of controversy has thundered about the singer since she was fired by the Metropolitan Opera last Thursday.

Will she discuss her contract severance with Metropolitan general manager Rudolf Bing? "He took away that possibility by making his statements," Miss Callas said.

Prefers New York

Would she prefer practicing art in Dallas rather than in New York? "I wish we could practice art in New York," she replied.

Will she discuss a contract with Carol Fox, general manager of the lyric opera of Chicago? "I understand she wishes to see me," Miss Callas said. "We have no definite appointment and I would like to settle down for two days and get my thoughts together."

There have been unconfirmed reports that Miss Fox has offered the soprano $10,000 for a single Chicago concert. Her Metropolitan contract called for $1,500 a performance.

There is also a possibility that Miss Callas will go on tour with the Dallas Civic Opera, a tour that would not include New York.

Her singing in the title role of "Medea" drew enthusiastic critical and popular acclaim in Dallas.

Miss Callas was accompanied here by her husband, Giovanni Battista Meneghini, retired Italian industrialist. She goes to Toronto in two days for a concert appearance.

de Lisio Letter Gertsema Action At Board Meeting

The following letter has been addressed to the Woodstock column by Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) de Lisio and relates to her observations at the November budget hearing and regular meeting of the Woodstock Board.

The letter commends Supervisor Joseph (Buzzy) Fitzsimmons for "a quiet authoritative dignity" in his role as chairman of the budget hearing meeting and sharply criticizes Councilman Tobie Geertsma's actions which Mrs. de Lisio describes as an attempt to embarrass other members of the Town Board.

The letter follows:

Dear Friends and Neighbors:

"I wish that every voter in this community had availed themselves of the opportunity to see our local government in action by attending the annual budget meeting of our town Board."

Finally, I'm sure that you would have been impressed and justly proud of the man we all call familiarly "Buzzy" Fitzsimmons.

Mr. Fitzsimmons demonstrated beyond any doubt, the qualities so all important to anyone in public office. Honesty, a quiet authoritative dignity and most evident knowledge and understanding of the duties and responsibilities of town government.

He dodged no questions, no matter how apparent that they were asked to confuse or embarrass. He demonstrated the proverbial "Patience of Job."

You are all to be congratulated on your foresight in putting such a capable man in office.

Secondly, it was made crystal clear that everyone who is truly interested in this community should attend the monthly board meetings to acquaint ourselves with the needs and problems of our town.

It was most evident that we must give our active support in town affairs. Particularly, I should like to appeal to the young householders. After all, you intend to raise your families here, so it is vitally important that you remain informed and vigilant.

Questions Motives

"And lastly, I should like to ask a question of Mrs. Geertsma. Why should any member of the Town Board have to ask for a breakdown on any item in the budget at the final budget meeting when it should appear that as a councilman you should have had complete information prior to the open meeting? After all, the law demands that each department included in the budget must have its estimates in the hands of the Town Clerk on or before September 30th of each fiscal year. Also by law, the preliminary budget must be prepared and acted on not later than October 10th. Our Board met for that purpose on October 8th. According to the minutes of that meeting, you were present—and could have asked any questions and received answers, this being the logical time to do so. Also, at the aforementioned meeting, it was publicly announced that the budget would be available in the Clerk's office for any citizen who so desired to peruse and examine."

"Therefore, it would appear to this simple citizen that one of two things could be true—either you have been too busy to inform yourself or else wished to appear very clever and knowing and thus try to embarrass the rest of the Town Board, in front of the citizens who had attended that meeting. I wonder just where the truth lies? Having read with amazement the rather loose handling of the truth in your letters, Mrs. Geertsma, I fear that my conclusions would lean toward the latter view."

Most sincerely,
"WIGGIE" de LISIO

Rockefeller Sudden Rival

20 of 38 GOP State Heads Still Favor Nixon in 1960

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—It's cold comfort for Vice President Nixon to know that a score of Republican state chairmen consider him at this minute their No. 1 boy for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960.

Although Nelson Rockefeller suddenly became his rival — by winning the New York governorship last Tuesday — 20 out of 38 chairmen queried by The Associated Press more or less named Nixon as their choice.

That's now. And it's no wonder. They're indebted to him for all the campaigning he did for them, himself and the party in every election since, and including, 1952. But there's nothing sentimental about a political convention. By 1960—if Rockefeller makes a decent record in New York and looks like a better bet—the delegates will thank Nixon and pick Rockefeller.

Nobody has to tell Nixon this. He's not only a practical politician, he's a tough one. For proof: the kind of attacks he's made on the Democrats over the years.

Nixon is almost 46. Rockefeller is 50. Until Tuesday Nixon seemed to have the field to himself. Now he may lie awake nights, planning.

Victory Unlikely

There's no reason to think the Republicans can win in 1960—after what has happened to them in the past three congressional elections — unless one or both of two things happen.

1. The Democrats, running Congress, split wide open or make a mess of legislation that is popular and needed.

2. The dazed and shattered Republicans can find a line that wins favor. They have no such line now. Where can they get it?

Hardly from President Eisenhower. He was provided meager leadership for the party, either because he doesn't know how to inspire it or because the party has been blind to his form of "modern Republicanism."

The task of leadership, it would seem, falls on Nixon. But he, despite his campaigning, couldn't help the Republicans escape a massacre in his own state of California Tuesday.

For six years he has remained pretty much within the shadow of Eisenhower. In that time he has not managed to project himself, or his thinking, in such a way that either has become a rallying symbol for the Republicans.

What can he do? Turn to the right? That's a bleak road. The right wing Republicans fell Tuesday like ducks on the opening day of the hunting season.

If he tries to follow a very liberal line—in the belief that is the contemporary and therefore popular thing to do—he'll lose the support of the right wing and its financial angels.

Rockefeller is expected to follow a fairly liberal line. Nixon, if he sounds too much like Rockefeller, may be accused of trying to imitate him.

Yet, Nixon has to get across to Republicans and voters an image of himself that both will want. These next two years won't be easy for a man as ambitious as Nixon.

Haven't Seen Last Of Knowland: Brown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's Gov.-elect Edmund G. (Pat) Brown says Sen. William F. Knowland is not through with politics.

After Brown defeated Knowland by more than a million votes in the governorship race last week, Knowland, retiring Senate Republican leader, said he was leaving public life for the family newspaper, the Oakland, Calif., Tribune.

But Brown, appearing Sunday on a television program CBS' "Face the Nation," described Knowland as "an important publisher with a great national reputation and many friends."

"He represents a strong majority of the Republican party, and you haven't seen the last of him by any means."

Explosion Rips Through School Having 39 Negroes

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP)—A thunderous explosion ripped through an integrated junior high school in the small community of Osage four miles northwest of here early today.

No one was injured and there was no fire.

State police said the 2:15 a.m. explosion was set off deliberately, apparently with dynamite. The explosive is easily obtainable in Osage, a mining town of 400.

The school has 93 Negroes among its 400 pupils.

Charles Stevenson, superintendent of Monongalia County schools, did not rule out the integration issue as a possible motive but made light of it.

"Integration here at Osage school has been going on for three years without incident," he said.

State Police Cpl. W. B. Snodgrass and Sheriff Charles Whiston said they found a wire, apparently used to detonate the explosive, leading out a window to the rear of the building.

Dem Tide Drowns GOP Hopes

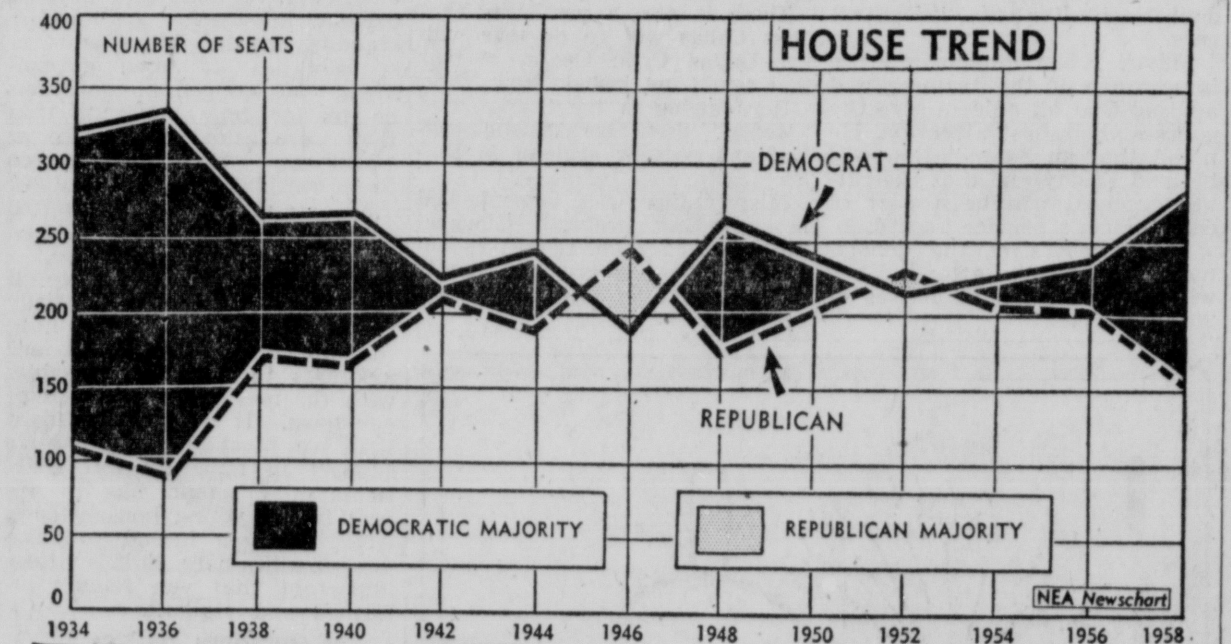

Sweeping victory across the country gives Democrats commanding control of Senate with 62-34 edge, 12 more than a majority. Republicans elected only eight senators.

Democrats took 24 governorships and now hold 33. Republicans elected eight, totaling 14 with six holdovers. Close race in Nebraska hinge absentee ballots.

Twenty-eight majority in Senate gives Democrats strongest control since peak year of 1936 under Franklin D. Roosevelt. Republicans will occupy only 34 seats.

Nearly complete returns verify Democratic landslide in the House, where they have elected 278 of 435, leading in three unsettled races for an indicated total of 281. GOP took 153.

How Can Oldsters Continue To Live on Slashed Incomes?

BY MARIE DAERR

"One of the biggest services you can perform for older people these days is to help them answer this question: How can I make my money last as long as I live?"

This advice came from a speaker at a recent conference on aging.

"Older people hear and read about the fact they are likely to live longer than their grandparents did," the speaker said.

"They hear and read about chronic illnesses that can be a drain on bank accounts."

"They don't know anything about financial planning for their later years, and so they get just plain scared."

"Because it costs money, they put off that physical examination they should have. They give up the recreation they used to enjoy. They cut out giving to church and charity."

Golden-age clubs could do a big favor to these older people by asking a budget expert to give some tips on how to live happily on an income that may be one-third to 60 per cent of the old one.

Or, if there is no golden age club to do the job, why can't a group of retired, or soon-to-retire, people get together and find a person with financial know-how to give them some advice?

"Older people should be told to read the fine print on insurance policies, particularly the wording about options," this speaker continued. "They should be given some tips on how to make the home they own produce income."

"They may need some advice on how much money to keep in the bank, how much to put into bonds or stocks. They could certainly use information on hospital and health insurance plans — and on writing a will."

"Maybe they ought to get rid of the car. You can take an awful lot of taxi rides on the money it takes to keep up an auto."

This is a good time of year to start such an information-please project among your friends.

As this speaker put it: "It's profitable and fun to talk budgeting in a big group. You can learn much from each other. And, the more you learn, the better prepared you will be to make your income stretch through the years ahead."

Q—I am over 72. Has the Social Security amendment changed the law in regard to the amount of money I am permitted to earn without losing Social Security?—F. R. W.

A—No. A person 72 and over may still earn any amount of money without losing benefits.

Q—If a person on state assistance dies and leaves some real estate, does this property go to his relatives?—L. A. R.

A—The general practice is for property to be sold and the state compensated for what it paid the deceased over the years. The remainder of the money goes to the deceased's survivors.

The only West Virginia who served as Postmaster General of the United States was William L. Wilson, who originated the system of rural free delivery.

As this speaker put it: "It's

Q—I am over 72. Has the Social Security amendment changed the law in regard to the amount of money I am permitted to earn without losing Social Security?—F. R. W.

A—No. A person 72 and over may still earn any amount of money without losing benefits.

Q—If a person on state assistance dies and leaves some real estate, does this property go to his relatives?—L. A. R.

A—The general practice is for property to be sold and the state compensated for what it paid the deceased over the years. The remainder of the money goes to the deceased's survivors.

Health for All

Prescription For Penelope

Penelope was waiting in the doctor's office to hear the results of all the tests she'd been through. She lit one cigarette after another. Heart disease? Cancer? TB? Maybe some rare disease?

At last it was her turn. The doctor was writing on a prescription pad as he greeted her sternly: "Penelope, I've given you a complete check-up and find no organic trouble. But the symptoms you've had since your husband has been away in the service call for strong measures. I'm sending you to the hospital. Here are your instructions."

Penelope took the prescription with trembling fingers. This is what she read: "Volunteer work, the harder the better, to be taken at least three times a week. See Mrs. John Doe, director of Volunteer Services, Jones Hospital."

Now, years later, Penelope laughs when she recalls how quickly her vague symptoms disappeared when she began to help others much worse off than herself. She found that her community was full of jobs—in health and welfare organizations, hospitals, schools, civic groups—jobs that needed to be done by people like her with time on their hands. She was amazed to discover how many busy men and women found time to give, for nothing but the satisfaction of giving.

Penelope today is a busy housewife with growing children, but she is still an active volunteer. There are millions like her who serve in jobs that have little glamour and less glory but are tremendously important to their communities.

Certainly volunteer service can be good for you, for your mental health and happiness. But the important fact is that without you, the volunteers, many community organizations — your tuberculosis association among them — could not exist.

MOUNTAINS OF WHEAT

For thirty-five years Uncle has been "solving" the farm problem. That includes both Houses of Congress, plus billions of bucks. Both the GOP's and the Dems have tried their hand at it.

Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower all worked at it. Also, Henry Wallace.

Look at us today.

An Agricultural Department official said the other day that if we don't raise one bushel of wheat next year, the carryover from '58 and previous years will fill our needs for people, livestock, seed, all probable export demands, and still leave in our warehouses on July 1, 1960, some 300 million bushels.

Uncle now has 2,500,000,000 bushels worth of the stuff, and there is no end in sight.

This comes from paying growers a price of 60% above the world market price.

MR. HUTTON

F. D. R. said that we had to have national solutions to national problems. How many have been solved? Is there no solution to the farm problem? Of course, there is. But it hasn't been used. Why? Politics. The farm vote. But as I've said before, don't expect the farm vote to vanish as long as Uncle gives monopoly power to Big Labor to force up the price of everything farmers, and all others, must buy. Uncle has become the political prisoner of the pressure groups he created.

Neighbors, are we going to "play politics" until we crack, like France?

Anxieties Over Children Stem From Our Own Fears

On her apartment's playground Mrs. T.'s 4-year-old boy lets other children bully him. At first she thought it was his strangeness with them as they'd just moved from another neighborhood.

"So I encouraged him to lend his toys and treat the other kids to popcorn and ice cream," she writes.

"But a year has gone by, and he still just stands around when they shove him away from a game or run off with his hoop. If I tell him to shove them back, he doesn't seem to understand what I mean."

Of course he doesn't. A year ago he understood his mother so well when she said, "Make the kids like you by giving them things" that he can't take in her meaning when she now says, "Make them like you by demanding things."

He needs better respect from his mother. Giving it to him will surely involve finding better respect for herself.

Whenever we parents feel obligated to try to buy other children's friendliness toward our youngster, the chances are we are pretty uncertain of our own worth.

We may be over-eager to do favors to other people regardless of whether we need their approval or not. And we accept all kinds of obligations to avoid friction and the loss of their good opinion.

Sometimes it is our love for our children that opens our eyes to our own problems.

He shares his loss with your children

This man was a college professor. Unfortunately, his talent to inspire young minds will not be used again.

Why? An incredibly low salary drove him from the classroom. He was forced to take a job elsewhere to make ends meet.

Alarmingly enough, this sort of thing is happening with increasing frequency. As a nation whose destiny depends on the development of brainpower, how can we afford to let it go on?

Help the college of your choice. Help it plan for a stronger, better paid faculty. The returns will be greater than you think.

Mother of Four To Keep Pledge On Caring for 14

CHICAGO (AP)—A young mother of four babies took over the role of a second mother today for 14 of her brothers and sisters—in fulfillment of a pledge to her dying mother.

Mrs. Albert Williams, 42, died Saturday after failing to recover from the delivery of twin daughters, her 22nd and 23rd children, on Oct. 19.

Her eldest daughter, Mrs. Marie Smith, 22, took them home to their brothers and sisters and her own four babies.

"These children are mine now and I'm keeping them," said Mrs. Smith. "I'll fight anyone who comes to the door to take them. Mom begged me on her death bed with tears in her eyes to keep them together."

"She was the most wonderful mother in the world. She loved children. That's why she had so many."

Mrs. Williams and her husband, Alonzo, 58, came to Chicago five years ago from Atlanta. Williams is a plasterer but for two years he has been unable to work because of an intestinal disorder.

Williams said he receives $414 a month from Cook County relief funds to help support the youngsters. Several of the Williams children are married and others live away from home.

Mrs. Smith's husband is a filling station attendant who earns $60 a week.

"It'll be tough," he said, "but we'll manage."

100 Cars Collide In Fog; Two Killed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Fog turned a stretch of Pacific Coast highway into a nightmare alley in which more than 100 cars collided. Two women were killed and 15 persons injured.

Motorists speeding south along the busy highway were taken unaware by the thick fog bank 20 miles north of San Diego. Moving abruptly from clear weather into the fog they piled up with frightening regularity over a six-hour period Sunday.

The accidents all took place during the early morning on a 3½ mile stretch of the highway, which skirts the ocean. One series involved 25 cars in a chain reaction of rear-end collisions. Ten cars tangled in another pileup. In all 23 cars were so badly damaged they had to be towed away.

Ruth Millett Working Wives' Problems Aren't Impossible Ones

Working wives often complain that full-time housewives seem to resent them and make no effort to try to understand the working wife's special problems.

Well, here's a letter from a stay-at-home wife filled with suggestions for the working wife who wants the approval and friendship of wives who don't work outside the home.

Her suggestions are: "When a stay-at-home wife is showing off a dress she made, or a room she painted, or her flower garden, a working wife should refrain from saying, 'Of course, YOU have time for that. I don't.'"

"When a wife goes to work so that she and her family can have more of the material things, she may not have time to be active in all the clubs she belongs to. But if she isn't going to be a working member she ought to resign. Why should she expect to have all the benefits of social clubs and yet never be willing to do any of the work, pleading that she hasn't the time?"

"If a working wife accepts invitations for herself and her husband, she ought to repay such obligations in some way. If she can't find time to cook a company dinner, then at least, she ought to invite other couples out for dinner in a restaurant.

"The working wife who depends on nonworking wives to be Brownie and Cub Scout leaders for her children, teach them in Sunday school, chauffeur them along with their own children, etc., should do something — if only write a note—to show her appreciation. And she certainly should refrain from telling these women she envies them for having time for such work. Chances are they put in as many hours of work a day as she does—for everybody calls on the stay-at-home wife to do community jobs."

"When a full-time housewife mentions some book or article she has read, the working wife should bite her tongue before saying, 'I wish I had time to read.' If she really wished she had time to read she would find it. So why try to make the stay-at-home wife feel like a kept woman?"

There it is, working wives—some not too gentle hints on how to treat your nonworking friends.

After 20 Years Percentage Pays

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NAE Service

My old friend, Walter Malowan of New York, is a firm believer in percentage play. Twenty years ago I saw him go down on a hand when he lost a trick to a doubleton jack of clubs. The other day at the Regency Club in New York I watched him get that trick back when the jack of clubs showed up in the hand with the long clubs.

Walter ducked the first diamond, but had to win the second. West discarded a heart.

Walter continued by playing out four rounds of spades. Everyone discarded a heart on the last spade lead.

The heart discards by West and South were correct. East's heart discard was a bad mistake since it gave Walter a sure count of the hand.

East had started with six diamonds and three spades. Obviously, he also held the ace of hearts so the low heart discard indicated at least two hearts in his hand. In that case, he could not have started with more than two clubs.

Walter took his king of clubs; led his other club and finessed

Kingston Overcomes Mont Pleasant of Schenectady, 12 to 0

DOWN AND OUT—Mont Pleasant star quarterback Arnold Tomasek is brought down by John Parete of Kingston after a short gain Saturday at Dietz stadium. The Maroon scored two second half touchdowns to win, 12-0. (Freeman photo).

Buster Ferraro on TV

Buster Ferraro of Kingston has won the right to bowl in the first live TV show on Channel 6 (Schenectady) next Sunday at 1 p. m.

Ferraro and Punk Limmer, a 200 average bowler in the Capital City Classic, finished in a tie for first place in the Capital District Bowling Proprietors' elimination held at the Towne lanes in Schenectady Saturday.

Both hit 1284 for six games, a 214 average, but Limmer, who got 265 in his fifth game, had to convert the 6-7-10 split with his final ball in order to tie Ferraro.

Limmer and Ferraro split $150 in prize fees.

The Channel 6 presentation will be patterned after the other national TV shows, with the winner staying on until he is defeated. The winner of the Ferraro-Limmer match will face a challenger to be decided in a tournament at Cohoes next Saturday on the following Sunday's TV attraction.

Liberty Kegler Wins Men's Tourney

Averaging a nifty 206 yesterday while winning seven of eight games, Tom Rampe, the ace kegger of the Liberty Triangle Diner in the Hudson Valley Bowling league, earned himself a trip to Buffalo in January by winning the district all-star elimination tournament at Highland Falls. The tourney is sponsored each year by the Hudson Valley Bowling Proprietors' Association.

Rampe beat Poughkeepsie's Phil Versace, the tournament favorite, by finishing strong, after a bad start on Saturday. George Baird of Poughkeepsie, who led after the first round of the finals, dropped to third place. Following Baird were Pat Tarsio of Newburgh, Jake Charter of Poughkeepsie, defending champion Wayne Scott of Middletown and Tom Carlino and Charles Manfro of Kingston.

The Liberty veteran won 12 games and lost four and had a total of 75.36 points under the Peterson system. Versace won nine and lost seven for 71.24 Peterson points.

Seven of the finalists survived four weeks of qualifying rounds. Scott as defending champion, did not have to qualify.

Beadle, Spadafora are Heroes In Bruising Defensive Battle

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Defensive halfback Bob Beadle and tackle Ray Spadafora came to the aid of a non-existent Kingston High school offense Saturday at Dietz stadium as the Maroon gridders closed their home season with a 12-0 decision over stubborn Mont Pleasant of Schenectady. This marked the 22nd straight game without a loss for Bill Burke's club, but there was much doubt over the outcome until the final minute of play.

A recovery of a fumble on the Mont Pleasant five by Beadle in the third quarter and Spadafora's intercepted pass in the closing moments of the contest accounted for both Kingston touchdowns, as the line play by both sides was tremendous. As a matter of fact, one has to look back into the records to see when a Kingston club was held to only four first downs and just 113 yards rushing. That was the total offense of the locals after four periods of play against the upstarts.

Mont Pleasant was a one touchdown underdog but it looked as if the visitors would score the first time they received the leather. They put a poor punt in play on the Kingston 22 early in the first period and on first try from scrimmage, scat halfback Tom Maher scooted 16 yards to the six. But four plays lost a yard and the Maroon took over on the seven.

Drive Fizzles

With Hobie Armstrong showing the way, KHS moved to the Mont Pleasant 21 before the drive sputtered and finally fizzled out. Hobie went eight yards to get a first down and then ran from his 41 to the MP 21, a nifty run of 38 yards. However, the big and tough line of the visitors held on four downs and took over on the 20.

Just before the half, the upstarts put the pigskin in play on the 33 and reached the KHS 24. However, three passes fell incomplete and Kingston took possession of the football as the half time intermission was reached.

Beadle, an unsung defensive hero for Kingston all season, set up a score in the third period when he ran a punt back 55 yards. He took it on his own 35, cut to the left and down the sidelines and was finally driven out of bounds on the Pleasant 10. Beadle had appeared on the scene just a few moments earlier when Armstrong hurt his ankle and had to leave.

Though they had four downs to reach paydirt from the 10, the Maroon players couldn't wind up their offense. Fullback Tom Cragan made a yard and John Parete went for four to the MP 5. Then Cragan was held to no gain on fourth down, quarterback Jerry Donough overthrew Terry Kalish in the end zone. The visitors took over on their own five.

Beadle Breaks Ice

On the first play, halfback Ira Boyer fumbled and Beadle clutched the pigskin before it hit the ground and rambled five yards into the end zone.

With four minutes left to play in the contest, Mont Pleasant started a victory march. The visitors put the pigskin in play on the 38 and with some nifty running by quarterback Arnold Tomasek, made two first downs and moved to the Kingston 37. On second down, Tomasek faded back to pass and he was off balance. He threw a short one from the 44 and Spadafora, a bulwark on defense, leapt and grabbed the ball and set sail downfield. He raced 56 yards without a hand being laid on him and his teammates were home free.

With less than a minute left the plucky visitors reached the KHS 18, but with a fourth and nine situation, time ran out.

GRID NOTES—The visitors had the biggest line this observer has seen this season. The tangles were over 200 pounds, both guards hit the scale at 190 pounds and the starting center weighed in at 185. McDonough, Beadle and Spadafora were outstanding on defense for Kingston. They were in the Mont Pleasant backfield all day, breaking up running plays and knocking down passes. The toll of a tough schedule is beginning to show. The once powerful offense has been reduced to practically nothing. The guess here is that the entire team will be relieved after the Middletown contest to get 12 days off before the Newburgh fracas. Quarterback Tomasek looks like a star. He runs well, passes better than average, and is cool under fire. The crowd was good, considering it wasn't a league game. There were close to 2,000 in the stands. Accolades should go to the Kingston High School band and cheerleaders for a job well done. Armstrong, one of the greatest football players in the annals of Kingston High School, closed out his home career on a sorry note. His injury in the third period was a recurrence of the hurt ankle he had earlier in the season.

Monty Scores Two Touchdowns

Monty Stickle, junior left end from Poughkeepsie, added to his point total Saturday at Pittsburgh as the Irish suffered a 29-26 setback. Stickle caught scoring passes of 11 and eight yards from quarterback George Izo to hike his total this season to six touchdowns, eight extra points and a field goal for 47 points. The Irish lost the contest in the last 11 seconds of play.

Nottingham's Up Rip Van Winkle Lead Over Recs

Nottingham Aces picked up a game on Dutchess Recs in the Rip Van Winkle bowling league, sweeping a set from Rhinebeck Recreation, while Central Rec managed to take one game from the Poughkeepsie pinnies.

Nottingham now boast a 11-1 record, the Recs have 10-2. Toupouse Center of Beacon won 2-1 from Arthur Murray Studio of Kingston.

Ad Jones' 553 paced Nottingham in a low scoring duel. Jim Nottingham rolled 551. Joe Melito's 233-608 sparked Dutchess Recs against Centrals. Harold Broskie fired 221-210-611 for the locals.

Joe Micozzi cracked 228-595 and Dick Waltman 213-580 for Arthur Murray's.

Mont Pleasant Captures Title

Mont Pleasant of Schenectady won Class A team honors in the inter-sectional cross-country championship Saturday at the Colgate university campus, Hamilton. The upstate school, long a track and field powerhouse, beat Port Jefferson of Long Island for the top spot.

Kingston High School placed seventh in the team event with junior Jimmy Sims doing the best. He finished 11th with a good time of 13:31. Rusty Peterson, who was unbeaten this year in regular competition, finished ninth at the two mile mark, but he faded the last half mile and finished in 26th place with a time of 13:56, still a respectable run. There were 98 runners entered in the Class A competition. Kingston had 11th, 26th, 92nd and 94th place.

Allan Chapman of Huntington, Long Island, won the race with a record time of 12:58, breaking the previous mark by 26 seconds. Robert Lewkowicz, of Mont Pleasant was second in 13:10, 12 seconds behind the winner.

Section nine, which was represented by Kingston, got seventh place in the final sectional standings. Section eight, which features Long Island schools, was first and Section 11, another part of Long Island, was second. Then followed Section two, Section one, Section four, Section three and Section nine.

Lou Faxson of Saugerties captured 6th in the Class B event, running the course in 13:37. Joe Tompkins, the Monticello ace was 14th with a time of 13:49. Section one, Westchester County, won the Class B championship.

Ball Is Most Important

Fourth of an instructional series written for NEA Service and The Kingston Daily Freeman by champions.

By LEE JOUGLANDER
ABC All-Events Record Holder
Choose your ball with great care.

It is the most important part of the equipment. Select a ball from the rack at the local bowling center the first few times you bowl. Then, if possible, purchase your own.

Considering what weight to choose — most men and many women are able to control a 16-pounder, the maximum. If your hands are not strong enough for this weight, through trial and error, however, pick one out somewhat lighter. They are made as light as 10 pounds.

Test the thumb and finger holes, making certain that they fit snugly, yet loose enough to allow you to withdraw the fingers freely.

Check for proper span. Bury the thumb in the thumb hole and wrap the rest of the hand around the ball. If the ball fits, the first joints of the middle and fourth fingers should extend a quarter-inch past the inner edge of the finger holes.

Special bowling shoes may be rented or purchased. For right-handers, the left sole is made of leather to allow for the fourth or sliding step and the right sole of rubber to insure a good, firm pushaway.

SOLE IDEA — Leather provides for sliding step, rubber insures a good, firm pushaway.

NEXT: Grips.

WATCH OUT BUCK—Referee Bucky Gros looks as if he is going to be tackled by Ronald Penta (46) of Mont Pleasant. But the end is trying to get Hobie Armstrong as he takes off for a big gain in the second quarter. An unidentified Mont Pleasant player is on the turf after failing to tackle the elusive Mr. Armstrong. Kingston won the game, 12-0, to remain unbeaten. (Freeman photo).

They Said It Couldn't Be Done But Giants Defeat Colts, 24-21

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Blame it on the New York Giants. They're solely responsible for the scrambled title races in the National Football League.

Baltimore and Cleveland were streaking uncontested toward division crowns until the Giants changed the championship picture.

They said it couldn't be done. But Sunday the Giants notched their second consecutive victory over a previously undefeated team. This time Baltimore's high-riding Colts felt the sting, as Charlie Conerly, the Giants major domo, engineered a 24-21 upset.

The previous week New York ended Cleveland's unbeaten string with a 21-17 triumph.

Tied for First

New York's twin victories earned them a tie for first place in the Eastern Conference with Cleveland. The Browns were thumped 30-10 by Detroit. The leaders have 5-2 records.

The Colts' loss brought new hope in the Western Conference race to the second-place Chicago Bears, 24-10 conquerors of Green Bay. Baltimore, now 6-1, holds a one game lead over the runner-up Bears, 5-2.

In other games before a probable record turnout of 342,734 fans, in Los Angeles took undisputed possession of third place in the western sector with a 56-7 drubbing of San Francisco; Eddie LeBaron passed for five touchdowns as Washington outscored Chicago's Cardinals 45-31, and Bobby Layne pitched four TDs as Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 31-24.

Largest N. Y. Crowd

The largest crowd to watch a professional football game in New York — 71,163 — cheered as the Giants won it on Pat Summerall's 28-yard field goal with only 2 minutes 20 seconds remaining.

The Giants trailed 14-7 at halftime, but Conerly led the Giants on a 58-yard march culminated by a 25-yard touchdown toss to

Beacon High School Decisions Saugerties Gridders, 19-0

Sawyers Lose Fifth Contest

Though the statistics were almost even, Beacon High school took advantage of some sloppy Saugerties play to shut-out the Sawyers, 19-0, in a DCSL contest Saturday at Saugerties. Coach Bill Straub's gridders finished the season with two wins, a tie and five losses in eight starts. Beacon still has a meeting with Highland Saturday and can tie for first place by beating Bob Relyea's warriors.

The DCSL standings:

Wappingers Falls	4	1	1
Beacon	3	1	1
Saugerties	2	3	0
Roosevelt	1	4	0
Arlington	0	5	0

After a scoreless first period, the visitors hit paydirt early in the second quarter when Fred Ware plunged from the two foot line. Ed Tighe threw to Jerry Antalek for the extra point. Beacon went 25 yards in the drive, taking the pigskin on a fumble.

Fumble Leads to Score
Late in the period, Saugerties' splendid quarterback Don Mor-mile, who played with a bruised hand, fumbled a kick on his 13 and Jim Cotton of Beacon scooped up the ball and scored. Reserves saw action for Saugerties in the final period and the visitors responded with another touchdown as Tighe hit John Pavelak on a 33-yard pass play.

Saugerties had a threat in the second quarter when it moved from the 13 to the Beacon 31. A fumble thwarted the bid.

Tight Race Seen In Hockey League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Hockey League season is shaping up as one of the tightest races in recent years. Only six points separate the league-leading Montreal Canadiens and the last-place Toronto Maple Leafs today with the other four clubs tightly bunched.

The Maple Leafs capped a successful weekend by blanking the Detroit Red Wings 2-0 Sunday night after they had throttled the Boston Bruins 5-3 the previous evening.

The runnerup Bruins, meanwhile, missed a golden opportunity to climb into first place, losing to the New York Rangers 5-1 Sunday.

New York edged Montreal 6-5 Saturday night. In a nationally televised game Saturday afternoon, the third-place Chicago Black Hawks nipped Detroit 4-3.

Toronto's triumph over Detroit was notable in many ways. Dick Huff scored both of the Leafs' goals while goalie Ed Chadwick registered his first shutout of the campaign.

The victory was Toronto's first in two seasons on Detroit ice. The Rangers broke up a close game with two goals in the middle period by Andy Bathgate and Wally Hergesheimer against Boston.

Most Bowl Berths Still Wide Open

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Louisiana State or Iowa for the national championship, and almost a score of teams to pick from for nine remaining bowl berths.

That's the way things look today in major college football after a weekend that saw unbeaten and top-ranked LSU smash Duke, second-ranked Iowa collect the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl trip, Pitt and Georgia Tech return to bowl consideration and Washington State snafu the Pacific Coast Conference race to the Rose Bowl.

With the Cotton, Sugar, Orange and Gator Bowls still looking for two teams and the Rose Bowl looking for one, no less than 17 clubs are looking pretty.

There are, in addition such possibilities as Oklahoma, Missouri, Texas Christian, Rice, Southern Methodist, Mississippi, Clemson, North Carolina, California, Oregon State, Syracuse, Air Force and Rutgers.

LSU Is 8-0
LSU, now 8-0, couldn't help but pick up backers for the national title, decided by the final Associated Press poll, after whipping Duke 50-18. It was the highest total in 21 years for the Tigers, who get back to the business of winning the Southeastern Conference title and a shot at the Sugar Bowl against Mississippi State this week end.

Auburn, still second in the SEC after beating Mississippi State 33-14, is on NCAA probation and can't be considered for a bowl.

Mississippi, which plastered Houston 56-7, is third in the SEC and plays Tennessee. Old Miss could be a bowl pick without winning the SEC. So could Georgia Tech, now 5-2-1 after dampening Clemson's hopes a big 13-0 Tech plays Alabama next.

Clemson, the Atlantic Coast Conference leader, returns to league play against North Carolina State, North Carolina, second in the ACC and riding a six-game streak after thumping Virginia 42-0, makes its big bid against Notre Dame—a club the Tarheels haven't beaten in eight tries.

N.C. Set for Irish
Notre Dame also figures in Iowa's plans. The Hawkeyes won the Big Ten by beating Minnesota 28-6, now shoot for the national title against Ohio State and Notre Dame.

The Irish, headed neither for a bowl nor the national title, were handed a third defeat, 29-26 by Pitt.

Syracuse, a sure bet for a bowl, is 6-1 after whipping Boston University 42-0 and has only Colgate and West Virginia remaining.

Army, third ranked in last week's poll, beat the heat and Rice 14-7. The Cadets now have a breather against Villanova before the Navy Game. Navy shrugged off that 40-20 defeat last week by Notre Dame and clobbered Maryland 40-14.

Celts Start Slow As Knicks Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics bolted away to a whirlwind start last year easily to wrap up the Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Assn. But it's an entirely different story this season.

The Celts, hampered by a foot injury to star Bob Cousy, bowed twice over the weekend for their third defeat in five outings. In 1957-58, Boston won its first 14 games and didn't lose its third until the 22nd start.

This season the Celtics are resting in last place with New York, Syracuse and Philadelphia leading them at this early stage.

Boston lost to Detroit 136-133 in a nationally televised game Sunday afternoon. This came on the heels of an 87-84 setback at the hands of the St. Louis Hawks Saturday night.

Syracuse completed a weekend sweep with a 101-97 conquest of the Minneapolis Lakers Sunday night after topping Philadelphia 103-98 Saturday.

The Warriors, however, regained winning ways by bowling over hapless Cincinnati 106-92 Sunday. New York remained atop the Eastern Division with a 108-100 triumph over Minneapolis Saturday to boost its record to 5-1.

A 45-point scoring harvest by Gene Shue sparked Detroit over Boston. Shue collected 16 points in the second quarter as the Pistons moved to a 79-55 halftime bulge.

Johnny Kerr sank a hook with two minutes left to put Syracuse ahead and then converted a pair of free throws against Minneapolis.

Rookie Elgin Baylor starred for the Lakers with 34 points. Paul Arizin, the jump-shooting specialist found the range for 42 points—26 in the first half—for the Warriors against the Royals.

The man is absolutely right! Jarman's offer more style per dollar, more comfort per foot — and that means greater value. For proof, come in and try the distinctive new "Casablanca" shown here. It traces its slim smartness to a continental original but the soft and flexible comfort is directly due to Jarman's scientific new "Pillow-Flex" construction. All in all, it's tops for fall.
